

Open Space School Ready to Open

The sound of children's laughter has not yet rung out in the boldly beautiful new Russell D. Johnson Elementary School, named after the late superintendent of the Granite City School District.

But the school will open Tuesday morning to 600-plus kindergarten through sixth grade students, and its instructional program and facilities will be as imaginative as the educational innovations Supt. Johnson helped pioneer during his long service to District Nine.

Located on Old Alton Road near Norwood Drive, reached by way of West Pontoon Road and Braden Avenue, the cheerful, colorful structure is shaped in the form of a series of hexagons.

It is open space in both its design and teaching concept. W. Richard Brinkhoff, brand new principal of the brand new school, is impressed with the building and enthusiastic about the services which will be provided there.

Teachers and administrators who have visited Johnson School also have emerged with a glow of anticipation. And the pupils, starting Aug. 29, and parents, beginning Sept. 11, also are expected to react favorably.

Three seven-teacher teams have been assigned there. "We're sure that everyone will be extremely proud of the school," Brinkhoff commented yesterday. "The program is designed to build on the individual interests and needs of each child."

"The instruction will not be significantly different than in other schools. There will be the same subjects, the same disciplines. There will be two differences as the result of having a building designed for individualized instruction:

"1. Each child's instructional program will be geared for his needs; it will be possible to involve him in class-size activities, small group activities and individual work—all under the close supervision of a teacher. "2. Because of the structure of the new school and the method of instruction, children will not be labeled as easily as being fast, average or slow by other children."

"The greatest advantage of the open space school is its flexibility. Simply by moving furniture on casters or by night dividers, space can be provided for instructional settings ranging from large group to individual activities."

"Johnson School can be divided into instructional areas suitable for special activities easier than can the traditional classrooms. But bookcases and dividers will visually divide the open area as needed."

"The open space concept has proved successful in many school districts for more than 15 years."

"In addition to its flexibility, it helps the student adjust to a future we cannot fully envision. The open space and open classroom provide space, time and material for the child to learn in his own fashion and at his own rate."

"The number of teachers each child will have during the day will depend on his year in school and his special needs. "Through team teaching, each youngster will be able to draw on the special ability and talents of a number of teachers."

EVERYTHING BUT STUDENTS has been assembled at the new Russell D. Johnson Elementary School, Old Alton Road near Norwood Drive, photographed yesterday. And that lack will be remedied Tuesday when the more than 600 pupils report. Emphasizing team teaching and individualized instruction, the innovative plan was taken into account in the design of the building, which features hexagonal patterned "wide open spaces." Along the right are brick-enclosed material centers and small-group teaching and study areas.

News Notes Delegates End Duties

Having renominated President Richard Nixon and Vice President Spiro Agnew at the 1972 national Republican convention ending last night in Miami Beach, Fla., GOP delegates — including 38 Illinoisans — today moved homeward and into the campaign whose "D Day" is Nov. 7.

The Illinois delegation was unanimous from both nominations and divided 50 to eight against an effort to further weaken smaller states in delegate strength, following a compromise increasing delegates from 1,348 to 1,687. This state's total may grow to 102 in 1976.

A bus taking Illinois delegates to the convention last night was halted by demonstrators who threw black paint onto the windshield and punctured the tires. Setting fire to an American flag, they threw a burning flag into the motor assembly at the rear of the bus. Many of the Illinoisans were pushed and cursed, but none suffered serious injury.

Governor Richard R. Ogilvie helped send the Vice President's nomination last night, praising him for developing "a closer working relationship between the White House and the states than at any time in memory. He has brought the governors answers and has triggered results." Due to its place on the roll call, Missouri was able to put both national candidates "over the top" in the voting.

St. Louis County Supervisor Lawrence Roos, in making Tuesday's announcement endorsing President Nixon of renomination, cited high regard for Missouri's Sen. Thomas Eagleton, who was forced off the Democratic ticket after being nominated for Vice President.

Mr. Nixon prevailed, 1,347 to one for Cong. Paul McCloskey Jr. Mr. Agnew won, 1,345 to one vote for television newsman David Brinkley, and two abstentions.

The 55th Legislative District Senatorial Committee received word Tuesday from the Secretary of State, Illinois, that it has received a withdrawal-from-nomination form from John M. Edwards of Collinsville, Republican Senatorial candidate from the 55th District.

The Senatorial Committee chairman, Charles Metzger of Vandallia, said he will call a meeting of the committee for 8 p.m. Aug. 28 at the Hi De Ho restaurant in Carlyle to review any applicant who may wish to enter his name on the November ballot.

Smith had written an article about DuQuoin and the Hambletonian in the Sunday New York Times in which he stated, "In scenic splendor, Southern Illinois runs a poor second to the East Bronx."

Lt. Gov. Simon took exception to the statement and wired Smith inviting him to take a 30-minute auto trip with Bill Lyons, head of the Information Service at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale. Simon, a former newspaperman, added, "After the trip, if you have Southern Illinois enough to want to stay, please feel free to use my name as reference for a job at either the Carbondale or DuQuoin newspapers."

The DuQuoin State Fair Aug. 26-Sept. 4 will feature David Cassidy at 2 p.m. Saturday, Charlie Pride at 8 p.m. on the opening day, Johnny Cash at 2 and 8 p.m. Sunday, Vicki Carr nightly at 8 from Monday through Sept. 3 and Bob Hope at 8 p.m. Labor Day.

A western rodeo is set for 4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday and there will be 1:30 p.m. Southern Illinois rodeo through Friday, including the nationally prominent Hambletonian for three-year-old trotters Wednesday.

Twin 50-mile U.S. Auto Club midwest car races are set for noon Sept. 2, with a 100-mile stock car race at noon Sept. 3 and a 100-mile championship auto race at noon Labor Day.

A citizens committee named by Gov. Ogilvie to study levee district boundaries holding its first meeting here this afternoon.

Madison High School will open Monday at 8:30 a.m. and will dismiss at 11:30 a.m. The junior high school, which is to be operated this year on a split shift, will hold eighth grade classes that day from 7:30 a.m. to 9:20 a.m. Seventh grade

Governor Signs Bill for Dobrey Drainage Funds

Springfield — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has signed legislation (Senate Bill 1581) appropriating $6,564,000 for the Illinois Department of Transportation's division of water resources to carry out improvements throughout the state for the present fiscal year. It was announced Wednesday.

Three Southern Illinois counties — St. Clair, Randolph and Madison — will receive a total of $1,305,000 of the funds.

St. Clair and Randolph will share $750,000 as the state's share for utility relocations and related costs of a navigation project from Fayetteville to Chester on the Kaskaskia river. St. Clair and Madison counties will share $500,000 for surveys and studies to determine

Mall Bond Ordinance On Agenda for Monday

An ordinance authorizing the issuance of special assessment bonds to finance construction of the proposed downtown Granite City Mall is expected to be completed this week and presented for city council approval Monday night, Mayor Donald Partney said yesterday.

The mayor said he had hoped the ordinance would be submitted to council members in its regular meeting this week, but that copies of the ordinance were not delivered by Charles & Trauernicht, St. Louis bonding authorities, in time for that session.

The mall project, designed for rearrangement and beautification of the "downtown wedge" area has been in the planning stage since early 1968 and was

Burglars Loot Tavern Of Liquor, Cash, Guns

Burglars looted Myrtle's Tavern, 20th Street and Washington Avenue, of liquor, money and guns during the night, it was reported at 5:55 a.m. Tuesday. Entry was gained by removing a fan from a side window.

Value of the loot totaled $2,721.

Taken were 27 cases of liquor from a rear room, four cases of liquor from under the bar, valued at about $60 a case, $100.00 from the cash register, $81 in change from a drawer, about $300 from a pool table, a shuffle board and cigarette machine which were piled open, a 16-gauge automatic shotgun valued at $250 and a .38 caliber revolver valued at $80.

Eight Escape Injury As Auto Overtakes

Eight persons, including six children, escaped injury when the auto in which they were riding left the roadway on State Aid Route 35 near Holiday Mobile Home Park and overturned at 2 p.m. yesterday. The auto came to rest upside down.

The driver, Mrs. Minnie Mae Russell, Rural Route 1, Box 438, Granite City, said she lost control of the vehicle on the wet pavement and it left the roadway and rolled down the embankment.

Revise Contract --All GC Trash Being Collected

By HARRY BARNES Press-Record Staff Writer Designed by complaints of accumulating refuse as a result of the statewide open burning ban, Granite City Council members decided Monday night to abandon a program of city trash pickups and to award a contract for the work to a sanitation firm.

The council, with only one member absent, voted unanimously to award the contract to a firm which would handle the city's garbage collection contract — on a bid of $55,200, the lowest of four bids received by the city in early July.

The action climaxed two months of controversy over the city's methods of meeting the problem of extra trash pickups caused by the open burning ban which the state has said it will enforce by arrests if necessary, and action against municipalities that fail to enforce the ban.

Welborn was admitted with cuts to the left side of the head requiring 12 sutures and to the left leg requiring 45 sutures. Mrs. Welborn was treated for abrasions and contusions of the right knee and contusions of the right foot. She was released following x-rays.

The Davis couple was released following treatment and x-rays. Mrs. Davis had contusions to the left shoulder and neck. Davis suffered pains in the left elbow and shoulder.

4 Persons Hurt in Three-Auto Accident

Four persons were injured when an auto driven by Daniel Welborn, 19, of 308a Washington Ave., slowing to avoid a turning car, slid into the opposite lane and collided with a car driven by Lloyd O. Davis, 45, of 517 English Place, Mitchell, at 6:30 p.m. Monday on Route 203 at Central Avenue, Mitchell. A third auto, driven by Billy Gill, South Roxana, went into a ditch as he evaded the other two.

Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital were Welborn, Mrs. Ramona Welborn, 17, Davis, and Mrs. Geneva Davis, 40. Gill was uninjured.

ment program. The program was placed under direction of Lionel Portell, city street superintendent, who scheduled a series of trash pickups in different areas each week.

The volume of burnable materials such as tree limbs, brush, grass cuttings and waste-paper — materials which householders formerly burned before the state ban became effective — was too extensive to be handled by the city collection facilities.

Public reaction forced council members to admit during their Aug. 7 meeting that the city program was not working and that the city would have to take a new look at the problem.

Mayor Partney contended that the city should not spend more money for trash collections and that the award of a contract would result in an increase in taxation, which he opposed. The mayor, who has been hospitalized and confined to his home since June 2, sent a number of messages to the council, urging the city trash program be used to avoid an increase in the trash collection costs.

Anticipating the problem of increased trash because of the burning ban, the city council, through its Sanitation Committee headed by Alderman William Dallas, called bids for

SIUE Lecturers Push 'Humanistic Education'

Port Authority Acts To Reduce Accidents

The Tri-City Regional Port Authority approved resolutions Monday afternoon prohibiting tow boats from operating within 100 feet of the fixed liquid dock and fixed loading dock in the port harbor and to prohibit unauthorized barges in the harbor.

The resolutions were designed to increase safety in the port area.

Several incidents of tow boats striking moored barges and the fixed docks have been reported since construction of a guide wall at the Chain of Rocks Locks began.

ALL THE FISH YOU CAN EAT
FRIDAY, $1.39 AT GRANTS

"We've gotten to the moon with our technology; now it's time to get back to people," says Rudy Wilson, lecturer in education at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Wilson and Don Keefe, another education lecturer at SIUE, are among the primary proponents of what they call "humanistic education."

Keefe said a shift in teacher attitudes from "an authoritarian, fact-recall approach" to a "humanistic, student-centered approach" is long overdue.

The SIUE faculty members had an opportunity this summer to convey their concepts to teachers, parents and administrators of East St. Louis School District 189. Wilson and Keefe were consultants to the East St. Louis Urban Academy, which ended last week after 20 days of class meetings.

The urban academy, funded by a $287,132 three-year federal grant to School District 189, was established to retrain teachers to work effectively with inner-city youth.

Vera Phillips, director of the academy for School District 189, said Wilson, Keefe and other consultants conducting sessions "reoriented teachers and others to understand urban youth and design programs to meet the needs of those young people."

Wilson said inner-city black youths often have different needs and different experiences from middle-class, suburban youths.

"The middle-class child can survive without many problems," Wilson said. "But in this society a lower-class black kid may have trouble with his self-concept. He has to realize that his experiences are just as valid as those of people living in a big house on the hill. It's all part of the thought that the way a person feels about himself is the way he'll perform."

Keefe, who like Wilson came to SIUE in 1969 after teaching English at Claremont (Calif.) High School, said the concept of humanistic education includes changes in what is taught as well as how the teaching is done.

"Courses like chemistry, physics and algebra have little meaning for most kids in their present or future lives," Keefe said. "Ohm's law is drummed into everyone but it will be needed by maybe one or two of 100 kids who finally go into electrical engineering. We've got to deal with the issues that are pressing now and will be pressing in the future, the things that occur in everyday life."

The city of Wood River today filed a petition in Madison County Circuit Court seeking a temporary injunction to force George Musso, county treasurer, and ex officio tax collector, to immediately distribute all of the city's 1971 taxes collected, and to order him not to withhold any of the funds, even in an escrow account.

The petition differs from those previously filed by other taxing bodies which allowed the funds in dispute to be placed in escrow pending court settlement of the tax collection "charge-back" system. A hearing on the Wood River petition has been set for 10 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 31.

In dispute is the county's new system of charging each taxing body in the county a pro-rated fee based upon 1971 taxes. The petition charges that the system is illegal in that the new state Constitution prohibits charges based upon the amount of tax collections.

Two Persons Injured In Auto Accident

State Approves $392,085 Nameoki Drive Project

The Illinois Department of Transportation notified the Granite City Council Monday night that it has approved a long-standing plan for reconstruction of Nameoki Drive from 25th Street to Circle Drive at a cost estimated at $392,085.

A short time after the notice was read, council members voted to separate from the bill list and delay payment on a claim for $15,844 filed by Research Planning & Design Associates of St. Louis which handled the city's motor fuel tax engineering work prior to Jan. 1 this year.

The claim represented engineering work on the Nameoki Drive project which has been pending for several years. The billings listed the engineering work on the street improvement plan as 85% complete.

The Nameoki Drive project would be financed by motor fuel tax funds. The improvement provides for pavement, curbs and gutters, sidewalks and drainage installation over a stretch of .58 of a mile between 25th Street and Circle Drive.

At the same time, the council was notified by the Department of Transportation that a $20,000 appropriation of motor fuel tax funds for resurfacing work on Pontoon Road from Maryville Road to Franklin Avenue also has been approved by the state.

Road in Disrepair

That project has been sought by council members for the past several months because of the poor condition of the road in that particular area. The council first proposed resurfacing from Maryville Road to Nameoki Road, but later cut back the project because of the high cost.

Alderman R. E. Robertson challenged the Research Planning firm's claim for engineering fees on grounds that the firm had not served as the city's MFT engineers since Jan. 1 when the M. W. Architects & Engineers of St. Louis succeeded Research Planning in that position.

"That's seven months in which Research Planning apparently was working on these plans (the Nameoki Drive project)," Robertson said.

"I want to find out why the work was done after they had been replaced by other engineers," Robertson added.

The council heard an explanation of the new Dobrey Slough drainage project as proposed by Governor Richard B. Ogilvie and the Illinois Division of Waterways, from Helen Hawkins, a resident of the Dobrey slough area and a member of a special committee set up by the governor to consider area improvements in several fields.

Petitions filed by 57 residents in the area along Maryville Road from Down and Roney Avenues north to Morrison Road asking that the city annex the area was submitted during the Monday night council session. Council members voted to place the petitions on file.

The petitions said the area in which the residents live "is one of the few remaining choice areas for residential development in the Granite City-Nameoki area," and that annexation by Granite City of any more such properties would have a "definite long-range effect upon surrounding properties."

The petition said, "Annexation of the specified area would lead to rezoning to commercial use, thereby affecting all immediately surrounding existing properties through increased traffic, increased safety hazards for children and property values. We hereby oppose any such annexation and possible rezoning."

Pedestrian, 66, Hit By Car, Is Injured

Andrew J. Gladden, 66, of 3005 Village Lane, was injured when he was struck by an auto driven by Darwin J. Evans, 2431 Madison Ave., while he was walking across the street at 11:25 a.m. Wednesday at 27th Street and Madison Avenue.

Gladden was returning from a phone booth to his auto to obtain change when the accident occurred. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital with abrasions to the left knee and was released, following x-rays to the skull, knee and leg.

Organized Labor Backs United Fund Campaign

Area and national labor organizations are backing efforts of the United Fund in its 1973 financial campaign and the benefits it provides, according to Robert McCormick, director of AFL-CIO Community Services here.

He said the Tri-Cities Central Trades Council has endorsed the local 1973 United Fund campaign and urges members of labor to give their fair share in supporting it.

McCormick also pointed to a message from George Meany, national AFL-CIO president, urging support. It follows:

"For more than 30 years, AFL-CIO members have supported United Fund campaigns throughout the country. Labor's notable record of millions in contributions and millions in volunteer hours represent our commitment to voluntarism."

"The United Fund movement helps provide the opportunity for all citizens to come together in a voluntary way, for the common good. It is in the spirit of the American labor movement."

The AFL-CIO, through our community service activities, has participated actively in the development of United Fund community health and welfare services for the benefit of all people.

"I urge, therefore, all AFL-CIO members and affiliates to continue their support of the United Fund and its many agencies and programs that serve us all."

Carpenters' Contract Encourages New Homes

The Carpenters' District Council of Madison County and the Southern Illinois Builders' Association agreed Monday afternoon on a one-year contract.

The portion of the contract covering general construction provides a 10-cent increase in benefits, retroactive to Aug. 15, and an additional 10-cent increase Nov. 1, which is optional to be used for wages or fringe benefits. An additional 20-cent increase for pensions will be effective Feb. 1, 1973.

In an effort to spur residential development, a special section of the contract gives only the 10-cent benefit raise to workers on residential projects and excludes them from the additional 30-cent workers on other construction projects will receive.

Edwardsville Complains Of Debris at New Park

Madison County development of a small park under way on the old county nursing home grounds has drawn complaints of the City of Edwardsville and some residents of the area.

Much of the area is wooded and small trees and brush at the site have been cut but debris remains, making the site look worse than before.

Louis Whitsell of Nameoki Township, chairman of the County Board's education and recreation committee, said a wood chipper had been borrowed from the state to clear the site, but the state took it back. It has been returned and clearing of the park has resumed.

trend throughout the industry to spur more residential building. John Yubody, secretary-treasurer of the union, explained.

16-FOOT-LONG SCALE MODEL of Granite City Steel Company's hot strip mill complex, one of the nation's most powerful and technologically advanced steel rolling mills. The scale model has been presented to the University of Missouri at Rolla.

MIRROR DAMAGED

Jerry Paul Bakan, Hiram, Mo., reported that his truck, stopped at Fourth Street and Broadway in Venice, was damaged when a dairy truck passed on the right and struck the outside rear view mirror on Bakan's truck at 2:40 p.m. Tues-

Scale Model of Farmers Concerned Over Rise in Cattle Feeding

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County Extension Adviser

A 16-foot-long scale model of Granite City Steel Company's hot strip mill complex, one of the nation's most powerful and technologically advanced steel rolling mills, has been presented to the University of Missouri-Rolla, the school which graduated many of the engineers employed on this mill and other Granite City Steel facilities.

Dr. Merl Baker, chancellor of the University of Missouri-Rolla, visited Granite City Steel to inspect the model and the hot strip mill itself.

He was accompanied by Dr. J. Stuart Johnson, dean, School of Engineering; Dr. Harry Waldron Weart, chairman of the Department of Metallurgical and Nuclear Engineering; and Dr. Theodore J. Planje, dean, School of Mines and Metallurgy.

Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman of the board of Granite City Steel, pointed out that there are only 10 of these modern continuous 80-inch hot strip mills in the United States.

The mill was a key factor in the 1971 merger of Granite City Steel and National Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, and is now supplying hot rolled coils for National's Midwest Steel Division at Portage, Ind., as well as for Granite City Steel's customers and finishing departments.

The scale model was built while the hot strip mill was under construction in the 1965-67 period.

It was used by engineers in pre-startup planning and to show customers the magnitude of the expansion program then under way at Granite City Steel, largest steel producer in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Also to be given to the university at a later date is an exact scale model of the company's BOF Shop (Basic Oxygen Furnace).

The model was built at the same time and used in conjunction with the hot strip model. This particular unit is of special interest to metallurgists.

Granite City Steel employs more graduates of the University of Missouri-Rolla, a total of 41 at this time, than of any other school of engineering.

Chancellor Baker and the other Rolla officials had lunch while at Granite City Steel with company officers and a representative group of Madison County engineers including the one with the longest service with Granite City Steel—R. C. Solomon, director of the Department of Metallurgy and Quality Control.

Solomon joined the company in 1935 when he obtained a bachelor of science degree in metallurgical engineering.

The U. S. population increased 13.4% from 1960 to 1970, but the pounds of beef produced increased 42%, so farmers are not creating scarcity to raise prices.

The USDA report on July 1 which showed 14% more cattle in feedlots than a year ago has caused concern among Madison County beef producers as they make their future feeding plans.

They know from past experience they can suffer substantial losses if they fill their feedlots with high-priced feeder calves and then have prices drop before the calves are ready for market.

They also know they cannot make money with empty feedlots.

Cattle feeding is no business for the timid.

Rib steak which sold for 79 cents a pound 20 years ago sells for $1.59 a pound today—double in price.

Yet 20 years ago farmers got a penny more per pound than they get today for choice cattle.

In the past 20 years, farm costs have risen as follows: Wages for farm labor has increased 2.3 times. Farm machinery costs are nearly double. Prices that farmers pay for all goods and services have doubled. Farm real estate taxes per acre are 3.6 times higher. Debts of all farms are nearly 5 times larger.

Those are formidable economic circumstances under which to operate a farm business at a profit.

A bad word "The word efficiency" became a bad word among farmers a few years ago. We don't use it much any more, but the underlying principles still exist.

Increased production per acre, per farm, and per man per year of farm labor have been the main answers to economic pressures on farmers, and those answers have not come easily nor without their problems.

More inputs of technology and more purchases of goods and services from agribusiness have been substantial trends.

More intensive cropping systems, more chemicals and more concentrated livestock operations brought new problems, created new environmental crises.

There is no question that we have some problems we need to solve and we need more information than we now have to solve them.

What we want is to "have our cake and eat it too" if that is possible.

In the meantime, farmers really don't need sympathy from anyone. What they would like to have is more understanding by non-farmers of what some of the farm problems are.

Who Got Benefits? Farmers often raise the question as to how we farmers received the benefits from all these changes the past several years, or his it really been the consumer who received the benefits?

Several University of Illinois citizens popular among home owners are available free at the county extension office in Edwardsville. Titles of some of the circulars are "Illinois Home Guide," "Growing Small Fruits in the Home Garden," "Growing Tree Fruits in the Home Orchard," "Starting a Lawn," "Keeping a Lawn," "Lawn Weeds—Identification and Control," "Vegetable Diseases," "Home Orchard Pest Control."

"Insecticide Recommendations for the Homeowner." Signs are up at the soybean variety test demonstration plots at the farm owned by Chauf Federer and operated by Othmar Gelfer, 3 1/2 miles south of Alhambra on the county road. A roadside sign marks the location of the plots, and signs identify each variety.

This is the second year for these plots in that area, so we will be looking for a location in another area of the county for the plots in 1973.

Deadline Set for Telling Tenants Of Their Rights

The Rent Advisory Board has announced an Aug. 31 deadline by which landlords owning five or more rental units must notify tenants of their rights under the 8% ceiling regulation.

Under these regulations, effective with the July rent period, landlords must offer tenants a one-year lease with an 8% ceiling as an option in the case of all leases signed since last Dec. 29 where the leases formerly were longer than one year.

In announcing the deadline, Rent Advisory Board Chairman Thomas B. Curtis, said the board has received "numerous reports" of non-compliance by landlords.

"We feel that landlords have had ample time in which to comply with the regulations," Mr. Curtis explained. "We had hoped for a high level of voluntary compliance. However, it seems that this additional action, setting a firm deadline, is both necessary and appropriate."

If a tenant accepts the option of a one-year lease under the 8% ceiling, any increase must still be fully justified by the landlord under existing regulations. Landlords may exceed the 8% ceiling only for increased property taxes or municipal charges, increased services (such as additional security or capital improvements) begun before May 1, 1972.

The tenant's share of any increases must be limited to a pro rata pass-through of actual additional costs.

Landlords are required to notify tenants on IRS Form 570 which is available at local Internal Revenue Service Offices.

Venice Council Asked to Provide Youth Facilities

Two petitions calling for action to improve youth recreation facilities were presented to the Venice City Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

Oliver Patterson, area coordinator for the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, spoke to the council before presenting the petitions bearing 72 signatures of Venice citizens.

One petition asked that the city establish a skating rink and the other calls for a "Youth Drop-In Center."

Patterson told the council that he feels there is a lack of concern for the local youth.

Patterson told the council that he feels there is a lack of concern for the local youth.

Up to Park Board

Dr. John E. Lee, mayor of Venice, explained to Patterson that the Venice Park Board, which is made up of elected members, is charged with the responsibility of providing adequate recreation facilities. Lee further explained that the city council can not levy a recreation tax and that monies collected by the recreation tax are controlled by the Park Board.

The mayor said that he and the council members recognize a need for better recreation facilities and that if monies permit after obligations are met for the Broadway underpass, the surplus monies could be used to supplement the Park Board's recreation program.

To Attend Meeting

Patterson told the Press-Record he would call on the Park board in Venice at 11 a.m. to day to discuss the two projects and ask to appear at the board's next meeting.

He said he intends to contact the Madison City Council which has the authority to control the city recreational program. Madison does not have a park district.

Patterson attended Dunbar School and is a graduate of Madison High School. He is a native of Venice and has attended SIUE for two years.

In other business the council authorized the mayor to enter into an agreement with the Madison County Housing Authority to pick up trash at the housing properties. The city will be paid $400 per month for the added service.

The mayor instructed Police Chief Ralph Bravley to meet with the police facilities. Lee prepared a call for bids on two new police cars which will be made available as part of a federal grant.

A letter from the Madison County EOC was read to the council expressing appreciation for the donation of some building materials.

The arrest report for the month of July listed a total of 42 arrests, 28 adult and 14 juvenile for fines collected.

Belleville Legion Appeal Rejected

An appeal by the Belleville American Legion baseball team protesting the conduct of the Illinois Legion State tournament finals was rejected this week by the direction of the national Legion program.

Belleville lost the state title last week to Arlington Heights and protested on technical points, one of which was that Belleville, which defeated the champs in an earlier playoff game, played seven games while the winners played four. Another major technicality involved a claim that Arlington Heights used ineligible players.

The late models will be featured Friday night in a special 100-lap race for a guaranteed purse of almost $2,500 in auto racing at the Tri-City Speedway, 5100 Nameoki Road.

The winner of the feature event will take home $500, with second place worth $250. The first 18 drivers to cross the finish line will be paid.

The program will start at 7:30 p.m. Friday with qualifying laps for $100 in prizes. Tim trials will be followed by two heats, the first for the fastest qualifiers and the second for slower cars. Each heat will pay $100.

32 Car Lineup
The feature will pit the fastest 30 cars plus the winners of both heats if they did not already qualify.

Drivers from throughout the Midwest are expected to compete, including all Tri-City Speedway racers with the exception of Spalding, who has indicated he will not enter.

The heat races are set for 8:30 p.m. Friday, with the 100-lap feature planned for 9 p.m.

Marine Cpl. Cawly Maintains Table Tennis Skills in Japan

MCAS Iwakuni, Japan—"The old man just kept beating me and after a while it got to me. I told myself if I was ever gonna get good at it I needed lessons."

"It" is table tennis and the speaker is 21-year-old Marine Lance Cpl. Bob Cawly of Madison, a member of the St. Louis Table Tennis Club.

"During my three years at Southern Illinois University I met an older man who continually beat me on the tennis table."

"It finally hit me that table tennis is like any other sport, and if I was ever going to improve, I'd need some instructions. After the old man told me the same thing I went looking for an instructor," Cawly explained.

His search for an instructor took Cawly to the St. Louis club where he started picking up pointers and help with his game.

While playing as a member of the St. Louis club, he met a ranking member of the Asian circuit who is a former Australian champion as well as this champion of the table tennis tour.

"He became friends and he helped me a lot with my game," said Cawly. Enlisting in the Marine Corps on the 180-day delay program, Cawly spent his delay time touring the U.S. as a member of the St. Louis club playing exhibition games around the country.

Cawly, who is NCIC of the Iwakuni Marine Corps Exchange cafeteria, has played in one tournament since entering the service.

"It was in February of this year at Camp Pendleton and I took the singles title and teamed with Robert Ardon for the doubles crown. Ardon was formerly the No. 5-ranked play-

Adult Soccer League To Be Organized by 'Y'

Soccer is a youthful sport but men of all ages can play and the Tri-City Area YMCA is out to prove it.

With the guidance of Soccer Director Ruben Mendoza and Physical Director Kent D. Dunn, the YMCA is opening a men's soccer league this fall.

On Wednesday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p.m., the first meeting of interested coaches, managers and players will be held at the "Y", 2001 Edison Ave.

The organizational meeting will deal with local rules of play, organizing of teams and scheduling.

Two teams of players already have indicated an interest in the league.

Players must be 18 years of age or older and out of high school. To encourage older players (25 and up) to participate, a free substitution rule will be set up.

Dunn commented, "When the older fellow runs out of wind, falls out of bounds and lets the coach know he needs a substitute, the sub can go in the field to play at center field."

"Interested players should do three things. First, register at Mendoza's Sporting Goods with Mendoza. Second, start getting in condition by running. Third, be at the Sept. 6 meeting."

"Play will be scheduled for Wednesday evening. An all-star team — with lots of players for scheduling flexibility — will be chosen after mid-season to play out-of-town teams like Quincy, Decatur and Springfield, where adult soccer programs presently exist."

More information is available by calling Mendoza at 452-5500 or Dunn at 879-7200.

State Prep Grid Playoffs Posed At IHSA Meet

At a meeting held in DuQuoin, the board of directors of the Illinois High School Association reviewed a proposal for a state championship football playoff which had been prepared by a special committee appointed by the board last March.

The committee, consisting of 18 high school principals, athletic directors and coaches, met on three occasions to formulate the plan presented to the board.

Basically, the plan provides for the establishment of five classes, with a school's classification to be determined by the average enrollment of the school in its conference. Non-conference member schools will be classified on the basis of their own enrollment.

Each conference champion will automatically be qualified for participation in the playoffs.

On the basis of a point system, a sufficient number of additional teams will be selected from non-conference members and conference runners-up to complete 16-team brackets for each of the five classes.

For each class championship, 15 games will be played on four dates during a three-week period after the ninth week of the football season.

Following the discussion of the plan, it was the decision of the board that it be accepted for presentation to the principals of IHSA member schools. The executive secretary of the association was instructed to discuss the plan with principals, athletic directors and coaches at a series of town meetings to be held this fall.

Miss Shepard's collie earned ribbons as largest pet and best pet, while the puppie of Carriek Ien received a ribbon as smallest pet and the grasshopper of Ronnie Barnett won as most unique.

First-place ribbons went to Ricky Thomas for a cat, Ronnie Barnett for a hamster and pidgeon and Michael Samote for a parakeet.

Attendance Up 55,325 At '72 River Festival

Despite severe thunderstorms on Monday night, a crowd of 14,600 turned out to hear the Yes at the final Mississippi River Festival concert of the 1972 season, bringing the season's total attendance to an all-time record high of nearly 155,000.

The six-week Festival on the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University included 12 symphonic concerts by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra on Saturday and Sunday evenings and 16 pop-rock-folk events on weeknights from July 8 through Aug. 21.

During its four seasons, the total attendance at the Mississippi River Festival has increased by 120%, rising from a total of 86,384 in 1969 to the current 194,736 in 1972.

The average attendance for individual concerts in 1969 was 2,478 whereas the 1972 season averaged 6,930 at each concert. Last year's attendance totaled 139,411 (40% less than 1972 figure) while average concert attendance was 5,576.

Although a rock concert by The Who last year still holds the individual record with nearly 33,000 in attendance, three events this season topped the next highest figure of 15,671 for Chicago in 1970.

Top-drawing concerts this season include Emerson, Lake & Palmer on Aug. 9 with 26,072; the Beach Boys on Aug. 16 with 22,573; Rare Earth on July 19 with 16,749; Yes on Aug. 21 with 14,635; Blood, Sweat & Tears on Aug. 2 with 13,894; and Fifth Dimension on Aug. 11 with 13,154.

These figures represent an increase of 18% over the original 1969 season, when 17 symphonic programs were performed, with average concert attendance increasing by 40%.

Music Director and Conductor Walter Susskind led the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra in the first three Saturday night concerts and Associate Conductor Leonard Slatkin directed two programs.

Guest conductors included Victor Borge, Aaron Copland, Arthur Fiedler, Margaret Harris, Andre Kostelanetz, James Levine and Mitch Miller.

Artists featured with the Orchestra were Elio Flagello, Malcolm Frager, Yoichi Hiroaka, John Korman, Teiko Macchashi, Silvia Marcovic, Rafael Orozco, John Sant'Ambrigo, Doc Severinsen, Andre Watts, Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt.

Pop-rock-folk events this season, in addition to those already mentioned, included Kris Kristofferson, 1980 Rock & Roll Revival, Brewer & Shipley, Glenn Miller Orchestra, Don McLean, John Denver, Nancy Wilson, B. B. King, Mary Travers and David Cassidy.

The six week-1972 season was sponsored by Mississippi River Festival, Inc., a not-for-profit Illinois corporation with directors from Missouri and Illinois. It receives financial support from the Missouri State Council on the Arts and the Illinois Arts Council.

MFR officers include Nicholas P. Voeder, Randall Robertson, Ernest A. Karandjoff and C.

Madison Bank Boosts Local Boy Scouts

Is Scouting a good thing for boys?

The directors of the First National Bank in Madison believe that it is, as they made a $654 purchase of supplies needed to expand the Boy Scout program in this area Wednesday.

Patches, streamers, certificates, printed material, all designed to expand participation in Boy Scouting were purchased for the 1972 Touchdown Roundup, the name given to the annual membership enrollment drive of the Cahokia Mound Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"Touchdown for Boypower" is the slogan for this year's membership enrollment campaign which began Tuesday evening at St. Margaret Mary's Church where "coaches" were distributed. The new recruiting program was explained in detail and supporting materials were distributed.

Special patches and insignia have been design to motivate Scouts to recruit their friends into the Scout program. Units have set membership goals and those who "score a touchdown" will receive special recognition.

A school night for scouting will be held on Sept. 28 to give new boys and their parents a chance to find out what scouting is about.

A meeting also will be held in October for civic groups, churches and fraternal lodges interested in sponsoring a Boy Scout Troop, Cub Pack or Explorer Post.

Anyone wishing more information on Scouting may visit the local Boy Scout service center, 1338 Niedringhaus Ave. or telephone the Boy Scout office at 876-0686.

50,000 State Employees to Get 4.5% Wage Increases

Copley News Service
Springfield—About 50,000 state employees will see a 4.5% increase in the paychecks they'll receive in mid-September.

For the fourth consecutive year, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has authorized "cost of living" increases across the board for state personnel.

Alan Drazek, state director of personnel, said the raises over the four-year span have raised state salaries by 26%. He estimated that about 50,000 persons will find the increases on the paychecks they receive in mid-September, covering work done from Sept. 1 when the raise becomes effective.

Only exceptions to the immediate raises, Drazek said, will be "prevailing rate" employees—those paid by the prevailing wages in their own fields, such as plumbers or electricians. These rates are reviewed and adjusted quarterly.

Maximum Allowed
The 4.5% salary hike is the maximum allowable under federal pay band stabilization regulations.

Promotions, "satisfactory" increases or other salary benefits will not be affected by the wage hike, since the pay board has ruled that policies and employment contracts which already had been implemented before Nov. 14, 1971, should be allowed to stand.

Increases for superior performance will, indirectly, be affected by pay board guidelines, since the increases, while not prohibited, must be included as a part of the overall percentage increase.

"This guideline," Drazek said, "will not have a direct effect on the individual state employee. Those code employees who merit superior performance increases will receive them."

Noting that competitive salaries are necessary to attract and keep quality personnel in any area, including state government, the personnel director said the cost of living salary adjustments, while not putting "the state in a position of leadership, does upgrade state salaries to competitive levels."

2 Injured as Autos Collide Head-On

Two drivers were injured when their autos collided head-on at McCambridge Avenue and Fourth Street in Madison at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Patricia K. Davis, 2123 E. 23rd St., driver of the north-bound car, and Milan Babic, 20, of East St. Louis, who was headed south, were taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where Babic was admitted with "laceration to his upper back which required 37 sutures. The driver of the other auto was examined at the hospital and released.

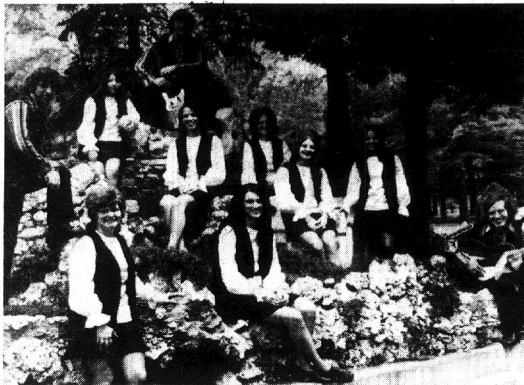

MOTORCYCLE STOLEN

Ray Thede, 1302 W. Pontiac Road, reported Monday that his red motorcycle was stolen from his home during the night.

Over 50,000 Drivers Fail

Last year alone, over 50,000 Illinois licensed drivers failed the state written examination. This year the number of drivers that will fail could jump to a hundred thousand or more. Experts say — "One reason is, that rules and regulations change, and even some good safe drivers just don't keep up with the new laws." If your license expires this year, you may be among the hundreds of thousands that will be re-examined in 1972. So if you're nervous about taking the state written exam, here's good news. You can now purchase your own "self-scoring" test papers, complete with questions, answers and road signs you should know for that important examination day. This method has helped thousands pass the state exam. In fact, it's a real money saver. (Check or money order only.) Mail to: AA-AA School of Safe Driving, 604 N. NEW LIFE SINGERS, part of the 32-voice Sanctuary Choir of the First Assembly of God Church will take part in a musical production at the church Sunday and in a repeat performance outside the church Monday. At top near center is Jon Grandstaff; second row, left to right, Allen Orahoad, Jan Starling, Carole Starling, Carolyn Jenkins, Jan James and Vicki Mercer. Bottom row, Connie Orahoad, Yvonne Albrecht and Larry Smallie. All are of Granite City.

Near Tragedy for GC Family Averted

A near tragedy for a Granite City family was averted during the weekend when two daughters were rescued from what was believed to be a shallow stream at the Hazah Wildlife Refuge and Park near Steeleville, Mo.

Debra Fuzy, 9, and her sister, Patricia Fuzy, 7, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis, 2717 Iowa St., were wading in the stream with a friend of the family, Bill Hodo of St. Louis. They stepped into a deep area and went under water over their heads. None of the three could swim.

James Davis, St. Louis, grandfather of the children, who was camping with the family, was able to reach Debra and bring her to shore. Another family, whose name also is Davis but are not related, were standing at the edge of the water and assisted in the rescue.

Mr. Davis helped the St. Louis boy, and his 12-year-old daughter, Debbie Davis, pulled Patricia out of the water.

Assembly of God Choir to Present Musical Sunday

The 32-voice Sanctuary Choir of First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue, will present a bold new musical by Composer John W. Peterson, "The Good Life," Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

The Good Life will incorporate today's finest choral sound, in styles ranging from "folk ballad" to "spiritual" to "warm-Gospel-with-a-country-western-flair," highlighted by soprano and alto solos and reinforced with Scripture narration.

A repeat performance will be produced on the church parking lot on Madison Avenue at 8 p.m. Monday. Listeners may sit in chairs or in their cars. If the weather is adverse, the concert again will be held in the church sanctuary.

The New Life Singers and Teen groups will present a pre-musical program of Contemporary Gospel song at the Sunday performance. The New Life Singers, composed of 12 college-age young people, are widely known throughout the area for their performances at numerous civic and community functions.

The performances of "The Good Life" will be given by the Sanctuary Choir of First Assembly of God of which the New Life Singers are a part.

The 32-voice choir will be accompanied by a sound track of symphony orchestra that premiered the musical in London earlier this year.

Teachers Younger, Better Educated Than Decade Ago

Copley News Service
Teachers on the whole are younger and better educated, but less experienced than they were a decade ago, according to national surveys by the National Education Association.

They also receive higher salaries, but the increase in some areas has not kept pace with the rising cost of living. Average age dropped from 39 to 35 between 1961 and 1971. Total years of experience dropped, too, from 11 years in 1961 to 10 years in 1971.

But the number of teachers holding less than a bachelor's degree also dropped, from 14.6% to 2.9%.

Salaries of instructional staff have gained every year in the last 10 years at an average annual rate of 6%. Average salary in 1971-72 was estimated at $10,146 compared with an average of $8,700 in 1961-62.

The instructional staff includes classroom teachers, principals, supervisors, librarians, guidance and psychological personnel and related instructional workers.

Estimated average salary of elementary school teachers in 1971-72 was $9,426 and of secondary school teachers, $10,015. For a moderate standard of living for a family of four living in the city in the spring of 1971, it was estimated that the annual cost would be $10,971.

The average salary paid public school teachers in 1971-72 was $9,269, or 83.4% of the requirement for a moderate standard of living.

Beginning salaries of federal civilian employees increased 46% on the average between 1965 and 1971. Beginning salaries of teachers in this period increased 43.4% on the average.

Fewer teachers rely entirely on their salary to support themselves and their families. The proportion of teachers with additional income sources increased from 51.1% in 1967 to 56.6% in 1971.

Total number of classroom teachers in 1971-72 was estimated at 2,659,623, as against 1,457,964 in 1961-62. Men account for 33.1% of the teaching force in elementary and secondary schools.

Many people outside educational circles have been concerned by what seem to be conflicting reports about the current supply and demand status of public school teachers. The spread reports of a teacher surplus are denied by some observers, who claim there is a teacher shortage.

While in some districts young men and women with teaching credentials are said to be forced into taking jobs as taxi drivers, auto salesmen or supermarket assistants, other districts report a shortage of qualified applicants.

The demand and supply also vary according to the subjects required to be taught. In some subject areas there is a shortage of applicants, and in others an excess.

Confusion arises mainly from a difference in the assumptions underlying the estimate of the demand for qualified teachers. Reports of a surplus are based on the difference between the number of applicants and the number of positions to be filled.

A survey by the Department of Labor indicates that, by 1980, unless the present trend is changed, there will be 4.2 million newly trained teachers to fill only 2.4 million jobs.

Reasons given for the growing oversupply are:

First, today's younger teachers are part of the post-World War II baby boom, when large numbers of children heard about and experienced a teacher shortage and decided on teaching as a career.

Compounding the situation is the fact that the birthrate dipped in the early 1960s, mean-

First Human Services Degrees to Be Awarded

The first bachelor degrees awarded by the human services program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will go to two students during commencement ceremonies Sept. 2.

The students are Tom Tischer and Mrs. Loretta Loe, both of Edwardsville.

The human services program started in September 1970, under the SIUE Center for the Study of Crime, Delinquency and Corrections. About 85 students currently are enrolled.

Practical experience is stressed, with students placed in responsible positions in social service agencies throughout Madison and St. Clair counties.

Robert Gilland, program director, said the idea for the degree came from agency representatives who have to hire employees with degrees and wondered why students could not be prepared specifically for work in corrections, mental health or other helping professions.

Tischer plans to begin graduate work next month at the University of Southern California. He recently received an award for his studies from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Mrs. Lovel is planning to begin work in counselor education at SIUE.

Holland Guest Impressed By "Friendly Americans"

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

"The American people are more friendly than I ever imagined," said Fred Verschuyl of Holland, as he commented upon his impressions of this country during a five-week visit in Granite City.

Mr. Verschuyl with his wife, Joyce, and children, 8-year-old Monique and son Ludo, who is 4, and his mother, Mrs. Maria Doene, were the house guests of his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Verschuyl, 3213 Bluebird Lane.

During their stay here, the family was entertained at a neighborhood barbecue and also "worked" in the Kiwanis annual boat races during July.

Mr. Verschuyl is a deputy librarian in the Ministries of Hague. He formerly worked for Traffic and Waterways in The Hague, and served as supervisor at the Technical Library in Delft.

In relation to his profession, the Holland visitor toured Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as well as other buildings on the campus.

"I was very much impressed with the architecture of the buildings at SIUE," said Verschuyl. "I also was especially interested in the open text system at the library as we have a closed text system in Holland," the visitor added.

At one time during his career, Mr. Verschuyl was an exchange librarian and spent time studying the German library system in both East and West Berlin and visited the America House there.

The visitor expressed a desire to remain here and seek employment at U.S. library. "We have observed that people here have quite a variety of choices for their vocations," the visitor added.

Speaks Five Languages
A versatile linguist, Mr. Verschuyl speaks five languages and is a well experienced librarian in technological departments of national libraries.

His life, as an active dark-haired, brown-eyed young lady, is a registered nurse who practiced her profession for seven years. Although she speaks little English, Mrs. Verschuyl explained nurses training in Holland is a three-year course and very similar to the training in this country.

They departed on Aug. 11 for their home in Delft. He has a population of approximately 63,000 and is located near Rotterdam. As the family left they expressed a desire to return to this country for another visit in the near future.

The hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Verschuyl came to this country under the sponsorship of Niedringhaus Methodist Church in November of 1969. He is president-elect of the Kiwanis Club and is an engineer with R. Dron Electrical Co.

Steel Imports Down Overall But Up Sharply from Small Countries and Key Products

Washington—During the first half of 1972, the United States imported 7,518,000 tons of steel, including 68,000 tons of fabricated structural steel and steel blanks.

This was a drop of nearly 1.6 million tons from the 9,131,000 tons of comparable steel shipped into this country by foreign producers during the comparable period of last year.

However, an American Iron and Steel Institute analysis of government data reveals significant increases over last year in imports of many key steel products, and in steel shipments from smaller countries.

Japan, the European Economic Community and the United Kingdom all sent less steel to the United States during the first six months of this year than they did in the first half of 1971.

Imports of steel mill products from Japan, for example, totaled 2,788,000 tons during the January-June 1972 period. That compares with a figure of 3,500,000 tons for the same six months of last year, a reduction of 26.3%.

The first half, 1972, combined steel mill product imports from the EEC and the United Kingdom (which joins the Common Market next year) were 3,051,000 tons, compared with 4,130,000 tons for the same period of 1971, a reduction of 26.1%.

Countering these trends, was a surge in steel imports from the rest of the world. Countries other than Japan, the EEC and Great Britain exported 1,611,000 tons of steel mill products to the United States during the first six months of this year, compared to 1,407,000 tons in the same period of 1971, an increase of 14.3%.

Some of the increases recorded from individual nations were dramatic.

In the first half of 1972, Korea shipped the United States more than 170,000 tons of steel—or four times total U. S. imports of steel from that country during the comparable period of 1971.

On a year-to-year basis, Mexico boosted its steel exports to this country by almost 30%, from 151,000 tons in the first six months of 1971 to more than 226,000 tons in the first half of 1972.

Both countries concentrated their U. S.-bound exports in a single major product area, Korea in hot and cold rolled sheets, and Mexico in plates. The Mexicans accounted for more than 16% of all U. S. plate imports during the first half of this year.

Other nations ran significantly ahead of their last year's pace.

Swedish producers upped their exports to the U. S. to 51,000 tons in the first six months of this year from 40,000 tons in the same period of 1971.

Sweden's total included over 18% of U. S. stainless steel imports in the first half, and over 33% of tool steel imports in the same period.

Austria boosted its exports to the U. S. to more than 22,000 tons in the first half of this year, up from 8,000 tons in the comparable period of 1971, while Argentina shipments to the United States of 48,000 tons in the January-June period of this year were 10,000 tons higher than the 35,000 ton total in the same six months of 1971.

The amount of foreign steel entering the Pacific Coast in the first half of 1972 was 1,585,000 tons—9,000 tons more than the 1,584,000 tons which arrived in the comparable period of last year.

The increase was due to shipments into the area from countries other than Japan, long the largest exporter of steel to our West Coast.

Smaller countries have generally increased their steel exports to the U. S. on a comparable year-to-year basis. In the first six months of 1972, carbon steel imports from these nations were up 15.5%, stainless imports up almost 20% and tool steel imports up nearly 9% over the comparable period of 1971.

Japan boosted first half, 1972, tool steel exports to the U. S. by 38.5% over the comparable period last year—primarily because of a nearly six-fold increase in shipments of tool steel wire rods. It also increased cold finished tool steel bar exports to this country by nearly 50%.

The 25.4% increase of stainless steel imports from the EEC and the U. K. was primarily due to a quadrupling of stainless hot rolled bar shipments, and a 46.8% increase in cold rolled stainless sheet shipments to this country.

Other nations also recorded substantial increases in their U. S.-bound exports of stainless and tool steels.

The biggest single jump was a five-fold increase in receipts of stainless plates from these countries.

Their stainless tubing and stainless wire exports to the U. S. also registered large gains, while their shipments of cold finished tool steel bar and tool steel wire into the U. S. were more than double their comparable 1971 level.

In carbon steel, first half 1972 imports of tin plates were over 296,000 tons, compared with 213,000 tons for the comparable period last year. This was due principally to a 74% jump in EEC-U. K. tin plate exports to this country.

June 1972 steel imports totaled 1,613,000 tons, including 14,000 tons of fabricated structural steel and steel blanks.

Truck Hits McKinley Toll Station, 1 Hurt

Eugene A. Meeks of O'Fallon was injured when his tractor-trailer struck an abutment at the McKinley Bridge Toll Station in Venice at 4:15 p.m. Monday and two coils of steel shifted forward from the trailer against the cab.

Meeks said he was west-bound in the outside lane when his wheels turned to the right. He said he was unable to correct the steering and the truck struck the abutment just past the toll collector's stand.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he is treated for abrasions to his left forearm and the left little finger. X-rays were taken and he was released.

A crane was taken to the accident scene to lift the steel coils onto another truck and the Venice Fire Department washed spilled oil and fuel from the pavement at the toll station.

Custody Correction

Custody of two children was given to the father, rather than the mother, in a case which Delbert Pyles Jr. was granted a divorce from Debrah Kay Pyles, both of Granite City. They were married June 26, 1969, in East St. Louis and separated last July 13.

THREE IN ACCIDENT

Autos driven by James Kenney, 2525 Revere's Route, and Iris Stovall, 2404 Sheridan Ave., were in an accident at 4:43 p.m. Monday at Nameoki and Fehling roads.

Autos driven by Charles F. Stone, Raleigh, Ill., and Shirley K. Filer, 1700 Delmar Ave., were in an accident on West pavement at 6:05 p.m. Monday at Niedringhaus and Madison avenues.

Armed Bandits Rob Restaurant of $28

A group of eight or nine men, all blacks, robbed Shirley's Cafe, 1920 Twentieth St., of $28 at 8:20 p.m. Monday. Lonzo Ray, who was at work in the cafe, said one of the men carried a 12-gauge shotgun and the other had a .22 caliber rifle.

He said they took the money from the cash register and left, headed east on 20th Street in a brown 1964 or 1965 auto. One was described as being about 28, six feet, one inch tall, with a mustache and goatee, of slender build and wearing dark clothing. The other was said to be about 18 and five feet, nine inches tall.

CONDUCT CHARGE FILED

Kenneth Graham, 49, of East St. Louis, was arrested at 7:15 p.m. Monday at 2111 Delmar Ave. on a disorderly conduct charge on a complaint filed by John Harvey who claimed that Graham knocked out a screen and crawled into a vacant apartment. Graham pleaded innocent and was released on notice to appear.

Gunman Takes $75 In Crystal Inn Robbery

A gunman took about $75 from the Crystal Inn Tavern, 1301 Madison Ave., Madison, at 10:35 p.m. Monday. Owner Chris Antonopoulos was working alone in the tavern when the man approached as if to make a purchase, but then displayed a pistol and said he wanted money, according to the victim.

The man waved the revolver at the cash register and Antonopoulos gave him the money. The robber fled in a white-over-blue, late model auto. A police search for the vehicle was unsuccessful.

DID YOU KNOW?

According to... The United States Department of Agriculture: The American Housewife in 1971 spent only 12.5% of the family's After Tax Income, an amount consumed in the home. This is the lowest figure ever reported in our country, or in any other country in the World. To compare, here are figures supplied by The Dept. of Commerce: The British Housewife Spends 22% of their After Tax Income, on Food; the French 23% - Japanese 28%, and the Russian 43 to 50%... The Poorer nations of the World spend nearly all the families' Efforts & Finances. The American consumer expenditures for food in the past 10 years has been improving steadily. Ten Years ago U.S. Consumers Spent 16.1% of their After Tax Income, on food in the home compared with the 12.5% of 1971. So things aren't as bad as they seem.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL D. COCHRAN, who were married at Nameoki United Methodist Church. The bride is the former Miss Patricia Rae Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Miller of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City.

Cochran-Miller Nuptials At Nameoki Methodist

Miss Patricia Rae Miller and Paul Douglas Cochran exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight setting on Aug. 12, at Nameoki United Methodist Church, before an altar decorated with bouquets of white summer flowers and greenery. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Miller, Rural Route Two, Hazel Road, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City. The groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert T. Cochran, reside at 1309 St. Louis St., Edwardsville. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Ellis Dugger. Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Miller wore a gown of white organza and Venice lace. The Empire bodice of the lace was designed with a scoop neckline and full bishop sleeves fashioned with wide cuffs of matching lace. A madonna styled headpiece secured a full-length veil of bridal illusion, edged in scalloped lace. She carried a small bouquet of white roses, red Sweetheart roses and baby breath. Miss Sandra Miller, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included two other sisters, Miss Renee and Sherry Miller, and Miss Kathy Cochran, the groom's sister. Lisa and Darcey Miller, the bride's sisters, and Julie Howell, a cousin of the bride, served as flower girls, with Stephen Howell, another cousin of the bride, as ringbearer. Their gowns of floral sheer voile over matching satin were in a rainbow of colors. Styled in an Empire fashion the high rise waistlines were encircled with satin ribbon and featured short flower sleeves. The honor attendant was in yellow and the bridesmaids wore blue, green and peach. Each girl held a bouquet of mums, daisies, pom poms and baby breath in shades to match their dresses. All three of the flower girls wore pink frocks identical to the adult attendants and they carried white baskets of pastel flowers. Kenneth Cochran attended his brother as best man. David Massa, Robert Burian, Bead Bridwell, Richard Holshouser, Steve Bartlett and Jack Hamilton completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers. The newly married couple received guests at a reception given at the Hamel Community Center, Hamel, Ill. immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Cochran, the former Miss Miller, is a graduate of Edwardsville High School and was employed as a secretary to the investment officer at Mercantile Trust Co. in St. Louis. Her husband was graduated from Edwardsville High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. They now are residing in California.

Kids Are Getting Clipped Again—at the Barber Shop

Copley News Service

A year ago barber Louis Hanke hung out a sign in front of his shop. It read: "Going Out Of Business, Unless You Hoppies Get Your Hair Cut."

"It wasn't very funny really," Hanke says in retrospect. "I was only 45 and I was getting worried about my future. When I first got into the barber business I used to have kids lined up for haircuts. But all that had almost disappeared."

Hanke's sign is down now and another one has taken its place. "Thanks, Young Men, For Coming To Your Senses."

"The kids are back now and I'm doing better than ever," he says, looking around his shop.

He now has two assistants and a screened off "styling room" where he clips, trims, washes and sets to the tune of $7.50 a head. "I'm even thinking about taking a vacation this year...if the kids can do without me."

Hanke's clientele is largely middle class, suburban and young. Last year they wouldn't have given Hanke's Clip Joint a second glance. But today it's different.

Marguerite Ann Scaturro, Gary D. Ayers Are Wed

The wedding of Miss Marguerite Ann Scaturro, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Scaturro, 808 Third St., Venice, and Gary A. Ayers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ayers, 2103a Amos Ave., took place Aug. 18 at the Southern Illinois University Religious Center.

Judge William E. Johnson performed the double-ring ceremony at six in the evening.

Mr. Scaturro escorted his daughter down the aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose a floor-length ivory chiffon gown fashioned with a high velvet ribbon inserted through narrow ivory Venice lace with a multi-colored floral trim.

The same detailed braid formed a vest-like effect down the center, front and back of the Empire bodice. Her full bishop sleeves were cuffed with the matching lace and the full circular skirt terminated with a self fabric ruffle at the hemline.

Her forward headpiece of velvet and lace held in place an ivory melody length veil of imported French bridal illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies, ivory Sweetheart roses and baby breath.

Miss Diane Mangiaracino, a cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. She selected a formal-length dress of pink dotted swiss that was designed with short sleeves, scoop neckline and a high rise waistline.

To complement her costume she wore a wide brimmed pink hat accented with long streamers and carried a basket of pink daisies.

The groom chose Phil Meredith to serve as his best man.

Mrs. Scaturro was attired in a long gown of purple and silver gray polyester knit. The sleeveless bodice featured a mandarin collar. A double row of sequin beading encircled the waist. Her full skirt was accented pleated and she wore silver accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother appeared in a formal gown in pastel green print designed as a new high-rise silhouette, featuring a soft cowl neckline. Her accessories were in silver and she also wore a white orchid corsage.

An evening reception was held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Granite City, following the service. Miss Mary Beth Scaturro, a sister of the bride, presided at the guest book.

The newlyweds are residing at 1218a Oriole St., Venice.

MR. AND MRS. GARY D. AYERS. They were united in marriage at the Southern Illinois University Religious Center at Edwardsville. The bride is the former Miss Marguerite Ann Scaturro, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scaturro of Venice.

Average Hospital Length of Stay Lessens

The average length of stay in Illinois' 236 community hospitals in 1971 showed a slight decrease (3.1 days) from the previous year, reflecting greater utilization control by hospitals, Anthony J. Perry, president of the Illinois Hospital Association, has reported.

Perry, executive vice-president and administrator of DeCATUR Memorial Hospital, said the 1971 average length of stay was 8.8 days, compared to 9.1 in 1970.

The decrease has also resulted in a slowdown in the pattern of increase in the average cost per patient stay, Perry said. Between 1970 and 1971 the average cost increased 11.5% from $743 to $836. Between 1969 and 1970 it increased 11.5%.

Average cost per stay is computed by multiplying the average length of stay by the average expense per patient day ($89.03 in 1971, $81.66 in 1970).

Perry reported the data from the American Hospital Association's annual survey of the nation's 7,097 registered hospitals. The full survey, "Hospital Statistics," is published each August with complete data for the previous year.

National Average

AHA reports the national average for length of stay in 1971 was 8.0 days and the average expense per patient day $92.31.

"The .3 reduction in average length of stay in Illinois is a positive mark," Perry said, "and in the last couple of years hospitals in most states have been successful in reducing their average length of stay." "There has been stronger emphasis on utilization control recently from many quarters—physicians, consumers and a third-party payers, as well as hospital administrators—and it has gained a new kind of acceptance," he added.

Total expenses for Illinois' community hospitals last year were $1.4 billion, with wages continuing to comprise the largest chunk of the hospital dollar. Last year, Illinois hospitals paid out $543 million in wages, a 17% increase over the $720 million paid in 1970.

"About 60-70% of a hospital's total expenses goes to payroll," Perry said, "and today this percentage represents greatly improved salaries for the persons who are providing the hospital care."

Wages Competitive

"In recent years there has been a continuing effort to make hospital wages more competitive with business and industry and hospitals are no longer the low payers they used to be. This improvement in hospital wages is a major factor behind the recent rise in hospital costs."

The 1971 Illinois statistics also show a higher ratio in the number of employees to patients. Last year the state's community hospitals employed a total of 123,533 persons, or 302 employees for every 100 patients. This compares to 288 employees per 100 patients in 1970.

"The level of sophistication in hospitals is continually increasing," Perry said, "and it is reflected in their staffs. There are a greater number of employees with specialized skills working to provide better care in keeping pace with advances in medical science."

Headquartered in Chicago, the Illinois Hospital Association is a statewide, voluntary, non-profit organization with more than 300 member hospitals across Illinois. It serves as the spokesman and program coordinator for Illinois hospitals in their interactions with both voluntary and governmental agencies and public groups.

Newport Homecoming Set For Labor Day Weekend

"Altogether, All Together" is the theme of this year's Newport Homecoming which will be held during the Labor Day weekend in Madison and Venice.

The annual event will begin with a parade at 10 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 2, featuring the championship Tom Powell American Legion Post band of St. Louis, local school bands, several Shrine units, six motor clubs and local bicycle units.

A carnival will be open during the three-day event at Lee Park in Venice, featuring games and "soul" foods.

Athletic Events Planned

Activities planned include softball and baseball for the men and track events for boys and girls. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's track star, George Tyus of Madison will conduct the track events at the Venice High School track.

A teenage dance will be held Saturday evening, Sept. 2, and a coronation dance is planned Sunday night Sept. 3, at the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 Dugout on Broadway in Venice. During that dance, the Newport Homecoming Queen will be crowned. Queen candidates are Marcia Newby, Rosemary Timmons and Sharon Watson. Another teenage dance will be held that Monday evening. Times are to be announced.

Dancing, Entertainment

The "13th Floor" band, which recently was featured with the "Staple Singers" on the "S.S. Admiral" showboat in St. Louis, will provide music during the coronation dance.

A farewell breakfast will be held from 8 a.m. to noon Labor Day at the Venice Community Center with Mrs. Barbara Silas Madison the hostess. Choirs and singing groups from churches in the area will sing during the event. Mrs. Myrtle Clemens is in charge of the religious program.

A hospitality house with lodging facilities will be open during the three days at the Henry Mitchell American Legion Auditorium with a direct telephone line to the party so

DRIVER CHARGED

Donna Mae McBride, 3983 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged with failure to yield the right of way after her auto and the car of Ernest M. Mills, 4245 Highway 111, collided at Route 111 and Pontoon Road, Pontoon Beach, at 3:25 p.m. yesterday.

20TH-STATE ACCIDENT

Autos driven by Mary Povodny, 1216 Iowa St., Madison, North Venice, Eagle Park, Acres and Kerr Island are expected to return for the homecoming this year.

Greene, Shipmates Give Blood to Hemophiliac

Seaman Joseph D. Greene of Granite City joined his fellow crew members aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Chicago (CG-11) in helping a five-year-old hemophiliac.

Light-haired, blue-eyed David Thornburgh lives at Rancho Bernardo, Calif., located near USS Chicago's home port of San Diego.

Like all hemophiliacs, David's blood does not clot when it should. For him the usual cuts, bruises and bumps that cause youngsters to shed a few tears may mean prolonged bleeding, severe pain, possible crippling and often hospitalization, including many transfusions. To prevent massive internal bleeding, he must receive blood transfusions every three days plus additional blood for any minor accident requiring an emergency transfusion.

The men of USS Chicago volunteered Aug. 15 to help him in his fight for life by donating a portion of their blood—blood that David so desperately requires.

The crew of the USS Chicago became aware of David's need when the ship was contacted by a special organization made up of the Thornburgh's neighbors. The ship's commanding officer, Capt. Thomas McNamara, called for volunteers and the crew responded enthusiastically. David and his mother, Mrs. George Thornburgh, were on the ship's fantail as crew members gave blood, in David's name, to the San Diego Mobile Blood Bank.

The line of donors kept growing until the blood bank had to limit donations to 165 pints. Agreement was reached to take more blood at a later date from crew members who had to be turned away.

Chicago crew members have demonstrated their generous nature time and time again.

Repair Orphanage

During their recent deployment to the Western Pacific 30 volunteers participated in two work projects repairing an orphanage and village chapel in the Republic of Philippines at Subic Bay. In addition to the free labor the ship gave them a $355 donation.

In Singapore Chicago men donated $200 to an old people's home.

During a Navy Relief Society fund drive $2,100 was collected from the crew.

Five hundred dollars was given by the Chicago crew to Operation Schoolhouse which provided sufficient funds for 20 needy Filipino students to attend high school for one year.

While Chicago was returning to the U. S. after operating off the coast of Vietnam the crew collected $447 to aid victims of the recent disaster in Rapid City, S. D.

Once back home Chicago men learned of David Thornburgh's plight and predictably they opened their hearts to his need.

Tour of Ship

In addition to the donation of 165 pints of blood (with more to come) David received a ship's plaque from the commanding officer and took a special tour of the ship with the executive officer, Commander Allen S. Jeffers.

On tour he had the opportunity to see a Tartar missile loading demonstration. When he got to the ship's bridge he was able to view the harbor of San Diego from the captain's personal chair.

Shortly after the tour David and his mother left the USS Chicago, waving a grateful farewell to the men of the ship that had done so much for them.

David may know now the truth in the current slogan: "The Navy: it's more than ships at sea." It's also men who are willing to give of themselves whenever and wherever help is needed.

Others wishing to help David Thornburgh may donate blood by contacting Mrs. Thornburgh, 17284 Libertad, Rancho Bernardo, Calif. Financial contributions may be sent to: Hemophiliac, c/o Bank of America, 16864 W. Bernardo Drive, San Diego, Calif. 92127.

J. W. Woodrome Named To Venice Town Board

James W. Woodrome, 634 Lincoln Ave., Venice, was appointed as a member of the Venice Town Board last night to fill the vacancy created by the death of Larry Puente on Aug. 10. Puente died of injuries suffered in a railroad yard accident at Venice Aug. 1.

Woodrome will serve as town auditor along with Al Topal of Madison and James Mosley of W. Madison. Other members of the Venice Town Board are Supervisor Arthur "Cooper" Moore and Town Clerk Thomas Foley.

The board voted last night to amend its tax levy, approved last April, to include a tax extension of $15,000 for the townships share of planning for the four-township sewer construction program in unincorporated areas of the Quad-Cities. Moore pointed out that the figure was included in the township budget, but not the tax levy because the fund is to be reimbursed from a bond issue that will finance the construction work. He said it may be some time before the reimbursement is received, and it therefore was deemed necessary to levy for the fund.

Summer Art Study Uses Many Tools, Methods

Summer art courses at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville are tailored for all kinds of needs and interests, according to David Huntley, chairman of the art department at SIUE. Members of this summer's art classes fall in several categories—from the undergraduate student to a mother making a clay merry-go-round horse for her daughter. Some are area art teachers, brushing up for back-to-school activities — no summer vacation artists range from charcoal to thread.

ART TEACHER Fred Schwappach of Alton High School pulls thread taut in a gothic window weaving piece he is making on a large floor model loom in a weaving class.

POTTERY ARTWORKS. Carter Knipping of Alton, a graduate student in fine arts, works on pottery which will be in his graduate show beginning Sept. 1 at SIUE.

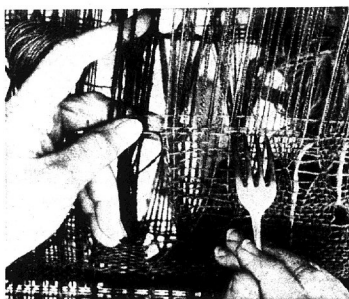

GOTHIC PATTERN. Virginia W. Howard, art teacher at Central Junior High School in Granite City, works on a pattern in a weaving class.

WOVEN SCULPTURED FORM. Nancy Tutt, Olivette, Mo., at work on a floor model loom. She calls the piece "Three-Toed Unicorn" and intends to use it as a wall hanging. Miss Tutt teaches art in the Belleville elementary schools.

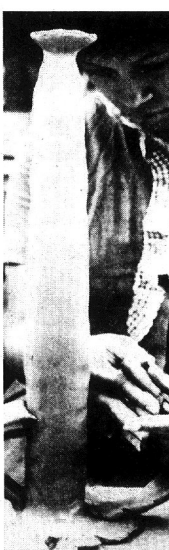

LIFE DRAWING CLASS student uses charcoal to draw an outline of a model seated before a window frame.

WEAVING STUDENT uses a silver fork to pull weaving threads into position.

CHECKING ALIGNMENT. Margaret "Meg" Casey, Normandy, inspects right angle wood construction in which she inserted nails of varying heights. A test in improvisation, using a minimum number of components, the piece could be used as a primitive musical instrument by stroking a piece of metal across the nails.

SCULPTURE STUDENT. Jan Harbolt of Hazelwood will recast in resin and then paint this clay sculptured horse. She plans to mount it on a brass pole like a merry-go-round horse and place it in the bedroom of her five-month-old daughter.

PRESENTING THE JOY, EXCITEMENT AND FINAL FULFILLMENT OF THE CHRISTIAN EXPERIENCE IN A BOLD NEW CHORAL MUSICAL CREATION BY THIS WORLD-RENOWNED COMPOSER

A MUSICAL BY JOHN W. PETERSON

From its blockbuster opening song, The Good Life through the soaring climax of No More Death, John W. Peterson's newest, most inspiring creation ever has the wide musical appeal and strong spiritual message to contribute mightily to the experience of "The Good Life" for listeners everywhere.

Clearly one of this century's outstanding composers, Dr. Peterson's powerful, hymnic and gospel favorites are loved the world over. But The Good Life may prove the most sought-after Peterson work of all.

The contemporary choral sound is highlighted by soprano and tenor soloists and reinforced with moving solo instrumental interludes as the songs, The Good Life, Heavenly Love, Take My Life and Let Me Live, Friends of Mine, And How a New Heaven, No More Death, and many more, in styles ranging from "folk ballad" to "spiritual" to "warm, gospelly-tinged contemporary." The Good Life captivates any audience with its melodic, enjoyable music, while expressing in eloquent word-pictures the promise and hope of knowing God.

Ruling Could Give Federal Workers 'Right' To Pay Campaign Lugs, Wield Favoritism

Comment by Wall Street Journal:
A federal court recently held that Hatch Act restrictions on political activities by federal employees are unconstitutional because the act's prohibitions are too vaguely worded.

No doubt there is merit in the court's finding that a vaguely worded law of this type can conceivably inhibit federal workers from exercising rights of free speech guaranteed to them under the First Amendment.

But if the Hatch Acts are to be discarded on such grounds, it can be hoped that they will be replaced with a more carefully worded law that will preserve their principal function.

It should be kept in mind that the purpose of the two Hatch Acts was not to subtly deny government employees their fundamental rights, but to protect them and the political system from machine politics.

The first act (1939) held that federal civil service employees could not be pressured in any way to make political contributions and forbade them to participate actively in politics.

The second act (1940) applied similar restrictions to state and local government workers on projects supported by federal funds.

The laws have not been fully effective—a problem that seems to occur frequently with any legislation that attempts to regulate political practices.

Elective officials, particularly at the state and local levels of government, still find ways of suggesting to typists and clerks in their employ that a contribution to a campaign war chest might not be a bad idea.

The direct power over people that incumbents exercise has been a prime source of impetus for corrupt big-city machines.

But there seems to be less of this sort of thing in national government than in state and local government. And it probably is not merely coincidence that the confusion over where the Hatch Acts have had direct application.

To let down the Hatch Act barriers would seem to invite voters at all levels to employ government workers willy-nilly in election campaign efforts.

Considering the fact that one out of every five of the nation's workers now is employed by government, there would be a vast pool available for recruitment of campaign help.

And since some civil service employees are in a position to grant small favors to the public, there might be further temptations to use that power on behalf of incumbents.

Perhaps we are exaggerating the dangers. But the history of machine politics in some cities and states suggests that we are not.

The recent court ruling, which was issued by a three-judge federal district court in the District of Columbia, currently is in a state of limbo. The class action case was brought on behalf of six federal employees, with American Civil Liberties Union help, who contended that the act, rather than protecting them, precluded normal political activity.

The district court enjoined the federal Civil Service Commission from enforcing the Hatch Act restrictions but then stayed its own injunction pending an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

It will no doubt be useful for the high court to bring its wisdom to bear on the ruling as well. Protection of First Amendment rights is indeed important. But so are laws that attempt to guard against unethical political practices.

If the courts finally hold that the Hatch Acts are indeed unconstitutional, it can be hoped that Congress will come up with a new law that will provide similar protections but will state more specifically what government employees can and cannot do legally in politics.

The Hatch Acts may not keep a tight lid on corrupt political practices, but we have a feeling they are better than no lid at all.

As Transportation Secretary Says, Nothing Gained by Delaying Decision on New Airport

U. S. Transportation Secretary John Volpe is right in calling for a prompt and non-political federal governmental decision on the location of a new airport to serve the St. Louis metropolitan area.

If political maneuvering on the issue had not been started many months ago by Missouri's jealous of the site and financing by Illinois, the question could have been resolved much more quickly and easily. Backers of an Illinois site had not only a financial interest in the decision, but also a political analysis and decision, because the facts are all on their side.

Questioned at the Republican national convention in Miami Beach, Secretary Volpe noted that the Illinois site had been decided, held early this month in St. Louis County, is scheduled to reach his Washington office by the time he returns there from Florida.

He foresees a relatively speedy decision, based on hearing data and staff findings, following the years of planning and study already conducted.

As Mr. Volpe pointed out, waiting until after the November general election to decide the airport site "is not taking it out of politics. That's ducking the issue."

Just as a pro-Illinois selection now would add another major accomplishment to the record of Governor Richard B. Ogilvie, currently fighting for re-election, a delay in the decision could be construed as "an enticement" persuading Illinois to vote for Lambert Airport.

President Nixon to assure that the airport will be built.

One certainty is that awaiting the outcome of a November referendum in Missouri would add nothing to the vast accumulation of airport information. Questions on the ballot are worded in such a way as to guarantee an "anti-Illinois" vote, since they do not make clear that perpetuation of the blemish on Lambert Airport is an impossibility from all economic, transportation and safety standpoints.

Some address must accompany each letter but will not be revealed if anonymity is required. Comments of less than 250 words will be given preference. All are subject to condensation and grammatical changes. Those libelous or not in good taste will be rejected or edited.

FAVORS KARANDJEFF AS NAME OF STATE PARK

To the Editor:

I am sending you a copy of a letter that I wrote to Governor Ogilvie concerning the renaming of Horseshoe Lake State Park.

I hope you will find the proposal sound and worthwhile, and will give it your support.

I have not had the opportunity yet to tell you how pleased I am that you are editor of the Press-Record. I wish you continued success in the future.

Certainly, you are well known about you in the Granite City High School journalism class is fulfilled—that you are a top newspaperman.

Following is the Aug. 17 letter to Gov. Ogilvie:

Your recent trip to the Quad-City and Alton areas, reported in the Granite City Press-Record as related in part to the development of Horseshoe Lake State Park, has reminded me of a fine article by Charles O. Stewart in the East St. Louis Mirror-East Journal.

In his column "Fishin' and fun" on Oct. 28, 1970, Stewart proposed that the name of the park be changed to the name of the park named after Henry D. Karandjeff, the Granite City banker who campaigned for the park for 40 years for the area recreational facility.

Stewart advanced several good and solid arguments to support his proposal.

When Mr. Karandjeff was honored with the Distinguished Service Award by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the June 30, 1970, commemorative biographical sketch emphasized his contributions to education and particularly noted his outstanding record in community and civic activities.

Stewart's proposal to rename the park Karandjeff State Park is an excellent idea.

This gesture, Stewart wrote, would be "a tribute to a fighter while he is still with us; a tribute to let him know his fight was appreciated."

Stewart added, "Through the years Horseshoe Lake south of Granite City has been confused with nationally known Horseshoe Lake, the federal wildlife refuge at the southern tip of Illinois.

"There are many old-timers who would object to changing the name of Horseshoe Lake in our area, but it certainly would eliminate the confusion for out-of-state residents who will be attracted to the new park."

"There are state facilities named for leaders who never did anything other than show up for a number of years for roll-call sessions in Springfield."

"Karandjeff State Park would be named for a man who, without thought of personal gain, devoted thousands of hours of his time to make a dream come true."

"He began working on the Horseshoe Lake project before 1930."

"Through those years he had many heartaches, many disappointments, many rejected proposals at Springfield."

"But he continued working through Depressions periods, and in the face of major setbacks."

"In 1955 the Horseshoe Lake Planning Commission was created with two senators, six representatives and 12 persons appointed at large by former Gov. William G. Stratton."

"Oct. 15, 1969, was the date Horseshoe Lake was designated a state park after a campaign of more than 40 years by Karandjeff and various organizations and community leaders."

"Immediate action taken from various points in our distribution system, The Environmental Protection Agency also expressed interest in our product independently, and the water company uses a separate independent testing laboratory for certain separate name."

"The park may be joined with the Cahokia Mounds Park, to the east, but it will retain a separate name."

"Governor, I most sincerely hope that you concur with the above points and that you will give the proposal serious consideration, and that you will spearhead the movement which will rename the park Karandjeff State Park."

"Because, as Stewart states, 'there is no one else in the area who has done more for the park than Henry D. Karandjeff, generations to come will benefit from his planning and support.'"

WATER TESTS, SERVICE GOOD; NEW TREATMENT

To the Editor:

Once again, a popular national magazine (August 1972) has been misled by a very misleading article.

The over-one-quarter million individuals in St. Clair and Madison Counties receiving service from Inturbin Water Company are certainly not supplied by a water-works as categorized in this article. There were several checking points mentioned that we wish to discuss.

Our production facilities are operated by the day. Richard B. Ogilvie completed a campaign promise and signed two bills appropriating $2 million to purchase 1,700 acres of lake bed and adjacent property to the state.

Various type tests are conducted of the water in our two laboratories, from raw water on through to the finish product. Some processes are monitored continuously.

In all, over 800 examinations are conducted each month, including the water taken from various points in our distribution system. The Environmental Protection Agency also expressed interest in our product independently, and the water company uses a separate independent testing laboratory for certain separate name."

Tax 'Loopholes' Are Deductions That Benefit All

Copley News Service
As candidates take to the stump to advocate their causes much is being said about the great virtue of closing "tax loopholes."

It is a political code phrase that raises two visions in the minds of most voters.

We first think of loopholes as the traditional tax refuge of big business, another favorite political target.

Second, we believe that tax loopholes are an advantage that accrues to somebody else, not us.

In reality, with the possible exception of the very poor, the tax loopholes that are being discussed touch nearly every citizen of the United States.

The best estimates are that if all income tax deductions were eliminated, the total increased revenue would be about $15 billion. The cost in lost jobs would be many times that amount.

This is another way of saying that in the end it is the wage earner, the butcher and the baker, who would suffer the most if the so-called loopholes are closed.

He is the biggest source of income to all governments.

This is brought home by the best definition to date of the tax advantages that do exist—the bills introduced in Congress by Sen. Mike Mansfield and Rep. Wilbur Mills.

By 1974, the Mansfield-Mills bills would eliminate as income tax deductions such items as insurance that employers purchase for employees, the exclusion of the $5,000 employee death benefit from taxes, the $100 dividend exemptions granted individuals, favored tax treatment of employee stock options, tax exemption of credit union and mutual insurance funds and deductions for farm losses.

By 1976, the measures would prohibit income tax deductions of sick pay, interest and insurance payments, soil and water conservation expenditures, land clearance, research and experimental spending.

By 1976, the measures would remove the last of the tax deductions that most of us take for granted each April 15, including those for retirement income and credit, rental value of parsonages, gains in sales by persons over 65, charitable contributions for medical expenses, scholarship grants and contributions to political candidates.

In short, each one of us is himself a major tax loophole.

To eliminate the loopholes would drastically alter charities, education, city revenues, home buying, health spending, food prices, household purchases, our jobs and our very life styles.

This is hardly the picture the politicians paint when they speak confidently of closing tax loopholes.

'Life Is Not Who You Are But What You Do to Help Someone...'

We receive a lot of mail, some of interest and some not. My curiosity was aroused by a couple of days ago upon receiving correspondence from the St. Louis Municipal School of Nursing, 1621 Grattan St., St. Louis.

The Grattan address was as familiar because my sister, Wilma, did her nursing school graduate, once studied there.

She became a nurse, then an instructor of nurses and then a medical doctor. Now Mrs. Frank Chasman, she directs the school services division of the St. Louis city health department.

Quadrants may have heard of nursing, "back to school" medical advice with Jack Carney on a KMOX "At Your Service" phone-in broadcast last week.

I had an opportunity to listen and was impressed, as I have been many times before, by the volume of diverse technical information which physicians maintain to discharge their brains and then retrieve instantaneously as various subjects arise.

The letter from the School of Nursing, referred to earlier in this column, dealt with a "Why Want to Be a Nurse" essay contest.

Miss Cynthia Klein, a 1972 graduate of Roosevelt High School, had been awarded first prize of $250 for writing the best essay in competition sponsored by the Friends of the St. Louis Municipal School of Nursing.

Second prize of $100 went to Miss Cheryl Tate, a 1972 graduate of Soldan High School, and third prize, $50, went to Miss Sharon Antons of Center function.

All three girls will enter the nursing school in September. The reason for mentioning this is that, as I glanced at excerpts from the essays, it struck me that the prospect of nursing students had given a lot of thought to why they had become interested in the profession.

"Nursing is challenging!" "In this day of dramatic medical discoveries, nursing has gained a new importance."

"Nursing is service! A nurse cannot think of herself when guarding the recovery of a heart attack victim."

"Nursing is patriotic! I want to be a part of a profession which strives to protect life rather than to take it!"

The Friends of the St. Louis Municipal School of Nursing annually sponsor this essay contest to encourage young men and women to enter the field of professional nursing.

The school accepts high school graduates, both male and female, for the 27½-month course in professional nursing, accredited by the National League for Nursing and the Missouri State Board of Nursing.

The School of Nursing is supported by the City of St. Louis and clinical experience is provided in the city's hospitals.

State Status—McGovern Visits Hints of Defeat

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield—Judged by past presidential candidates' visits to Springfield, George McGovern's was a big bust.

Crowds were small, and enthusiasm even among Democrats was lacking. Missing was that political excitement current that makes newspeople and other participants feel they are part of a big and exciting event.

One travels his own path down memory lane to recall the crowds that lined the streets and packed the Old Courthouse square for candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952. Two years later, even in an off-year, throngs flooded the State Fair to see and hear him campaign for the GOP.

There was tumultuous 1960 when emotional crowds lined the streets virtually all the way from the Capitol Airport to the Armory to catch a glimpse of John F. Kennedy, Vice-President Richard M. Nixon did almost as well.

McGovern's visit pales in comparison even with that of Springfield's own Senator Barry M. Goldwater, who attracted large and enthusiastic turnouts in his State Fair visit in 1964.

The 1968 Democratic standard bearer, Hubert H. Humphrey, also made a far better showing in his October 1968 Springfield visit. The reason, an address on the steps of Lincoln's Home.

The "Democrats' traditional and popular gathering place, the St. Nicholas Hotel, was as quiet as a normal day although the presidential candidate's entourage and some state candidates were in the building.

The dining room had scarcely a handful of the bar, which ordinarily is crowded five-deep by the party faithful when big affairs are under way, was virtually deserted.

The street along the two hotel entrances, which were surrounded by a crowd of well-wishers, had plenty of room for the less than a hundred McGovern well-wishers.

It was not necessary, as in the past, to seal them off. Traffic moved normally right up to the time the small caravan took off for the fairgrounds.

The fairgrounds crowd, too, was small for a presidential candidate even though there was no formal grandstand program that year. The reason for this was obvious. Few Chicago Democrats came down.

McGovern was, in some measures, a victim of circumstances.

His first sortie into Illinois, a stop he has termed as "per-haps the most crucial" in his presidential bid, got off to a bad start with the cancellation of the scheduled appearance of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Regardless of all the speculation, Statehouse interpreters of the Daley story intended it as a snub, pure and simple.

The first big try at unity in Illinois was out the window and there are more Capitol predictions that Deady and his organization will never work as hard for McGovern as they have for Democrat presidential candidates in the past.

Chicago aside, there was a distinct air of defeatism among Downstate Democrats who gathered for the affair. The reason was obvious. Few Chicago Democrats came down.

Building of Canal, Locks Begins

AUGUST 24, 1947
Preliminary work started Aug. 21 on the multi-million-dollar Chain of Rocks canal and locks. The River Construction Co., with about 100 men, began dredging and widening Gabaret Slough directly west of the Army Engineering Depot, where the new locks are to be constructed. It will take four or five months to complete dredging and widening of the slough for 3,400 feet, building levees to the north and south of the lock site and building a coffer dam. As soon as this work is finished, building of the two locks will begin.

Cooking Corner--Easy to Make Petits Fours Are Pleasing on Many Occasions

By SUSAN DELIGHT
Copley News Service

Sweet fancies are a many-faceted food. They can be served for receptions, teas, showers and committee meetings—to name just a few.

Among the many picture-pretty fancies are petits fours and decorated cookies.

Petits fours were originally dipped in fondant icing and were so beautifully decorated they were real works of art.

The simple-to-make version given today calls for a confectioners' icing which can be heated again and reused if it gets too hard.

The little squares are cut from a sheet cake which is split and filled with a melted jam and lemon-flavored instant tea powder. The decorations can be as simple or elaborate as the maker desires.

The cookies featured today, satin date drops, also are covered with a glaze—this one made with a packaged mix. These sweet treats are rich with chopped nuts and dates.

PETITS FOURS

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
1 egg

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 1/4 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup milk
1/4 tsp. vanilla extract

STRAWBERRY-TEA FILLING

1/2 cup strawberry jam
2 tbsps. lemon-flavored instant tea powder

ICING

2 boxes (1 pound each) confectioners' sugar
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted
1 tsp. almond extract

Food coloring

Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

In medium bowl, blend butter and sugar until creamy. Add yolks and egg, mix thoroughly.

Stir in flour, baking powder, and salt alternately with milk; add vanilla, mix well.

Pour into greased and floured 11x7x1 1/2 baking pan. Bake 25 minutes or until cake tests done. Remove from pan and cool on rack.

Trim crust from top and sides of cake, split to make two layers.

In small saucepan, heat strawberry jam until softened; stir in lemon-flavored instant tea powder.

Spread bottom layer of cake with jam-tea mixture; add top layer and cut cake into 1-inch squares. Place on racks over cookie sheet.

In medium bowl, combine sugar, milk and butter. Stir until smooth, then add almond extract; transfer to top of double boiler. Heat to consistency of thin icing. Add food coloring, if desired.

Spoon icing over each cake square, covering tops and sides evenly. Scrape drippings from cookie sheet, heat and reuse. Allow iced petits fours to dry, uncovered, several hours. Decorate as desired. Makes about five dozen petits fours.

SATIN DATE DROPS

1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened
3/4 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 egg
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/4 cup dairy sour cream
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour (Note)
1/4 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. soda

1 package (8 oz.) chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 package vanilla glaze mix

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Mix butter, sugar, eggs, vanilla and sour cream thoroughly. Blend in flour, baking powder and soda. Stir in dates and nuts.

Drop dough by teaspoonfuls onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake about 10 minutes. Cool. Prepare glaze mix as directed on package; spread over cookies. Makes about four dozen.

(Note) If using self-rising flour, omit baking powder and soda.

Donna Calvert Married In Candlelight Setting

Miss Donna Eugene Calvert, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Calvert, 2830 Nameoki Road, and Gary Wayne Francis, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Francis of Painton, Mo., were united in marriage Aug. 18 at 7 o'clock at Mount Zion General Baptist Church.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wayne Miskelley, assisted by the Rev. Robert Helms before an altar decorated with white summer blossoms and lighted candles. White satin bows and greenery marked the pews.

Miss Cheryl Berrong sang, "There's A Sweet, Sweet Spirit," "The Wedding Prayer," and "Take Our Lives" accompanied at the piano by Steve Edwards.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal-length gown of imported Chantilly lace and polyester bridal satin.

The gown was fashioned with a Victorian bodice of lace featuring a high scalloped neckline and high rise waistline. Long lace sleeves extended to points at the wrist. A line skirt of satin and tulle gathered at the back waist to form fullness for the train that was embellished with lace motifs and swept into a chapel length.

A Juliet headpiece created of lace, satin and seed pearls held in place a tiered veil of bridal illusion and she carried a white Bible topped with white phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Candlelighters were Miss Debra Francis and Miss Patricia Robins, cousins of the groom. They were attired in full-length dresses fashioned of pink dotted swiss in a Victorian style.

Maid of honor was Miss Debra Calvert, a sister of the bride, and bridesmaid was Miss Julie Ramey, the bride's cousin.

They wore identical frocks of mint green dotted swiss designed with a Victorian bodices featuring round necklines and short-puffed sleeves. White lace edged the necklines and was repeated on the side of the skirts.

Their shoulder-length veils were secured with Juliet headpieces trimmed in white lace.

Linda Larner Becomes Mrs. Gary E. Blackwell

Miss Linda Maureen Larner and Gary E. Blackwell exchanged wedding vows in an impressive ceremony on Aug. 18 at the First Baptist Church in McLeansboro, Ill. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Rev. Robert Larner, and the groom's grandfather, the Rev. Robert Grammer of Carbondale, Ill.

The Rev. Myron Dillow, pastor of University Baptist Church of Carbondale, assisted with prayers and led the guests in responsive readings.

Lighting the candles for the 8:30 p.m. ceremony was Edward Detwiler of Granite City, a cousin of the bride, and Mark Hammons.

The bride is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Larner, 406 E. Jefferson St., McLeansboro, formerly of Granite City. Mr. Blackwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Blackwell, reside in Carbondale, Ill.

Miss Larner wore a lovely gown fashioned of candlelight-huesing and chiffon styled with a natural waist and skirt that was gathered slightly at the sides and back, sweeping into a cathedral-length train.

The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline accented with scalloped re-embroidered lace etched in seed pearls.

Full sheer sleeves were cuffed in matching lace and pearls that terminated at the wrists in bridal points.

Her cathedral-length silk illusion veil flowed softly from the bridal cap covered with lace and tiny seed pearls.

Mrs. Blackwell, the former Miss Larner, carried a white Bible adorned with pink sweetheart roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Mrs. Terrell Lee, sister of the bride and matron of honor, bridesmaids Miss Karen Blackwell, sister of the groom, and Miss Lea Ann Farlow, and a cousin of the bride, Lori Detwiler, as flower girl, were the attendants for the young couple.

Mrs. Lee chose a gown of lilac crepe, with an Empire waist trimmed with white lace and lilac organza inserted through the lace. Her scoop neckline featured a small self-ruffle that was repeated at the hemline in the gown. The short puffed sleeves were edged with matching lace. She wore a lilac garden hat trimmed with painted daisies and carried a miniature wicker basket of daisies, stephanotis and ivy.

The bridesmaids chose shades of pink for their gowns fashioned similar to that of the honor attendant. They also wore pink garden hats enhanced with painted daisies and held baskets of daisies, stephanotis and ivy.

The flower girl was gowned identically to the maids. She carried a basket of flower petals and wore a garland of painted daisies in her hair.

Stan Hunter served the groom as best man, with groomsmen Steve Collier, Jerry Cameron and ringbearer Kent Mitchell.

Terrell Lee, brother-in-law of the bride, McLeansboro; Brian Galloway, cousin of groom, Metropolis; Barry Schroeder and Greg Schroeder, both cousins of the bride, of Granite City, were ushers.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Church Fellowship Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwell will make their home in Carbondale, residing at the Calhoun Valley Apartments.

Mrs. Blackwell is a graduate of McLeansboro Township High School and is a senior at SIU Carbondale.

The groom is a graduate student at SIU Carbondale majoring in music composition and theory. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia of America, professional music fraternity, and is a graduate assistant in the School of Music.

The bride's mother chose a long dress of pastel shades of pink and orchid chiffon over pink crepe. Her gown featured a natural-belted waistline, long-fitted sleeves edged with ruffles and the stand up collar.

She chose orchid accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Blackwell, the groom's mother, was attired in a long dress of bright orange and blue printed chiffon over pink crepe. The Empire waist, round neckline and long-fitted sleeves were accented with a matching belt.

State Law May Cut Interest on Health Facilities

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has approved legislation intended to reduce high medical costs and provide new health facilities throughout Illinois.

Through the Illinois Health Facilities Act—House Bill 483—tax-exempt revenue bonds will be used to finance construction for non-profit hospitals, nursing homes, shelter care facilities and homes for the aged. Gov. Ogilvie commented:

"The practical effect of this act is twofold: First, it rolls back the high interest rates such construction now requires.

"On a typical $10 million project, savings could amount to $2 to $3 million dollars in 20 years. These savings, of course, represent charges that would otherwise have to be paid by patients.

"Second, the act provides a means of constructing badly needed health facilities which otherwise simply would not be built."

Gov. Ogilvie stressed that no state expenditures will be involved in the program.

The bonds will be repaid from charges to borrowers, and a service charge will finance operations of the governing authority. He continued:

"One of the most distressing aspects of our fight to improve medical care is the huge increase in costs.

"The act operates directly on this problem, but it also permits a degree of control of overbuilding and redundant or excessive facilities—which have added substantially to the costs of health care.

"Further, the act requires full community involvement through regional and state comprehensive health planning organizations."

Exam on Tax Matters Announced by IRS

Persons who are not certified public accountants or attorneys but want to qualify to represent clients in tax matters before the Internal Revenue Service must submit their examination application by Sept. 1.

Leon C. Green, district director of internal revenue, said that the special enrollment examination in the Springfield district will be given at Springfield Sept. 25 and 26.

He emphasized that the right to represent clients in tax and other matters before the IRS is limited to persons who meet the highest standards of technical proficiency and ethical conduct. Interested persons can secure applications, Forms 2587, and additional information from their local IRS office.

Applications, accompanied by a fee of $25 payable to the Internal Revenue Service, should be mailed by Sept. 1 to the Director, Audit Division, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D. C. 20224.

Charters Issued to Two Local Groups

A state charter has been granted to Recruit Enterprises, Inc., 2200 W. Chain of Rocks Road, to engage in freight solicitation as a commission broker and to handle sales and leases of new and used tractor-trailers.

Listed as incorporators were Alvin T. and Thomas L. Reeves and Frank A. Curie. Approved was the issuance of 100 shares of stock with $10 par value.

A non-profit corporation charter also was issued to the Utility Fellowship Club of Illinois Power Co. The club was formed as a social club to sponsor social functions for and to promote the welfare of company employees. Membership is voluntary.

Louis F. Cimotta, Gary D. Ahern and John W. Blasingame are listed as incorporators.

Arts Concert Tonight

The second in a series of free folk concerts sponsored by the Venice-Madison Fine Arts Committee will begin at 7:30 p.m. today at the Venice Recreation Center. The Little Cossacks Dance Group, the Balaika Orchestra from the Nativity of the Virgin Mary Eastern Orthodox Church and the Madison-Venice Community Choir will provide the entertainment.

TIPS ON USING A PRESSURE CANNER

Are you planning to can some of your garden vegetables this year? If you are for safe canning of low-acid foods, use a pressure canner.

It is not safe to use a boiling water bath for processing vegetables other than pickled ones or tomatoes.

The temperature of boiling water is not high enough to destroy spoilage organisms in low-acid foods in a reasonable length of time. By using a pressure canner in good condition, you can obtain a temperature of 240 degrees F. at 10 pounds pressure. That temperature is high enough to kill the organisms if the foods are processed for the required length of time. Specific directions on preparing vegetables for canning and on processing times for different vegetables can be obtained from The Home Economics Extension Office, Box 68, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville, 62025, phone 656-4862.

When using the pressure canner, follow the manufacturer's directions. If you can't find the directions for your canner, here are some general ones to use with any pressure canner:

Put 2 to 3 inches of hot water into the bottom of the canner. Set filled jars on a rack in the canner so that the steam can circulate about each jar. If two layers of jars are put into the canner, place a rack between the layers and stagger the second layer.

Fasten the cover securely so that no steam escapes at the open petcock or weighted gauge opening. When steam begins to pour steadily from the opening, let it escape for at least 10 minutes. Then close the petcock or put on the weighted gauge and let the pressure rise to 10 pounds. Start counting processing time as soon as 10 pounds pressure is reached. Keep the pressure as uniform as possible by regulating the heat under the canner. At the end of the processing time, slide the canner away from the heat.

Let the canner stand until pressure returns to zero. Wait a minute or two and then slowly open the petcock or remove the cover and tilt far side up so that steam escapes away from you. Remove the jars from the canner.

PACKAGING MATERIALS FOR FREEZING FOODS
If you plan to pack foods for your freezer this summer here are some tips you'll want to know about.

Good wrappings and containers keep frozen foods from drying out and losing food value, color and flavor.

There are two types of packaging materials for freezing: rigid containers and nonrigid packaging materials. Rigid containers include those made of aluminum, glass, plastic or heavily waxed cardboard. Nonrigid packaging materials include heavy aluminum foil, polyethylene and laminated papers and bags.

A good freezing container or other packaging material is moisture-vapor-proof to prevent evaporation. Ordinary waxed papers, household aluminum foil and cartons designed for cottage cheese and ice cream are not sufficiently moisture-vapor-resistant for foods to be frozen and held for more than a few days.

To prevent "freezer burn" use good-quality freezer packaging materials. Also, it's important to seal the container or package carefully.

Rigid containers usually have lids that are pressed on or screwed on. If you use glass jars, seal them with a lid containing a sealing compound or use a lid and a rubber ring.

Follow the manufacturer's directions for sealing bags and other packaging materials.

RESPONSIBILITIES OF CONSUMERS OUTLINED
Today's consumer movement often places so much emphasis on consumer rights that consumers may not realize they also have responsibilities.

As a consumer, you have these rights:

—To be informed. That right involves having access to reliable and truthful information. It is important that the consumer have the necessary information to make the best choices in the market.

—To be heard. Consumers need the assurance that justified complaints will be evaluated.

—To safety. Government safeguards help protect consumer health and safety by establishing standards to keep harmful products off the market.

—To choose. The consumer has the freedom of choice and the presence of alternatives. In addition to having rights, you also have these responsibilities:

—To gather information about the items you buy. Your sources of information include friends, experts, newspapers, books, magazines, television and government agencies.

—To compare goods and services before buying. It's important that you be a comparison shopper to get what you want. That means not only comparing prices for the same item at different stores, but also checking various models for quality, guarantees and distinctive features.

—To use goods and services wisely and effectively. Consumers who abuse products and then complain that the product didn't last, create problems for those who have legitimate complaints. In addition, your expectations for performance should be realistic.

Better communication between business and the consumer and more satisfied buyers and sellers may come as a result of understanding one's rights and responsibilities.

ACCIDENTS IN HOMES

If you have family members in the "high-risk" category for home accidents—children under five and the elderly—take time now to eliminate hazards that could cause falls and burns.

The National Safety Council reports that home accidents caused about 26,500 deaths in 1971. And nearly one-third of those killed were persons 75 years or older.

Statistics for other age groups show that about 4,500 children under five died as a result of home accidents and about the same number of persons between 45 and 64 years of age.

In analyzing causes, the Council reported that falls are the No. 1 killer around the home—killing 9,000 people outside the home.

There are some suggestions for avoiding falls:

- Anchor all rugs.
- Repair loose boards and floor coverings.
- Provide good lighting in all traffic areas, especially stairs.
- Use gates at the head and foot of stairs to protect small children.
- Fasten stair treads securely.
- Provide stair handrails.
- Install nonskid surfaces and grab bars in bathtub and shower areas.

The report states that fires and burns caused more than 5,000 deaths. In addition, home accidents resulted in about 4 million disabling injuries.

Costs, such as wage loss, medical expense and claims settlements amounted to $1.9 billion.

Lawn & Garden

BURNED UP LAWNS

Bluegrass can survive a long drought but perennial ryegrass gradually dies.

Brown, crispy turf is a crisis that separates bluegrass from ryegrass. As the drought continues a growing percentage of ryegrass fails to survive. Fall rains and cool weather will reveal a checkerboard of dead and growing grass. When lawns are a mixture of bluegrass and perennial ryegrass a scramble develops between nearby bluegrass seedheads and weeds to take over the bare spots.

Occasional deep watering will keep your grass attractive and reduce summertime loss from drought. Frequent light watering is more harmful than total drought because it promotes a disease situation and shallow rooting.

Deep watering will wet the soil to a depth of 8 inches. Put juice cans or coffee cans in the soil and stop watering when one inch of water collects in the cans.

Water bills feel the effect of extra water too. Deep watering costs about 75 cents per 1000 square feet of turf for each watering. This includes the sewer fee and is based on the water rates in Edwardsville.

BONE MEAL FOR CLEMATIS
Clematis thrives when bone meal is used at planting time and added each year as part of annual care. New plantings should include two cups of bone meal in the soil mix and a modest application each year.

One important aspect of using bone meal is the effect on soil acidity. Clematis suffers in acid soil. During transplanting a common practice is adding peat moss to improve drainage. Bone meal effectively neutralizes the acid effect of peat moss to combine good drainage with a neutral or "sweet" soil.

HOUSE FLIES CAN BE CONTROLLED
Several species of flies may be encountered around the home. The most common are the house fly, little house fly and various blow flies. Household fly control is most successful when it includes a combination of good sanitation and the use of insecticides.

Residual sprays are effective for killing flies outside the home. Areas to be treated include porches, garages, breezeways, garbage cans and similar fly resting places. Surfaces treated should be sprayed to the point of run-off.

Garden store products like dimethoate (Cygon, De-Fend), fenitrothion (Baytex) will persist for six weeks while diazinon (Spectracide) will last for two weeks. Repeated treatments are of no advantage within this recommended interval.

GRADUATES IN AGRICULTURE

A survey of the fate of graduates from the college of agriculture shows the industry is alive and well.

A 1972 study of graduates with B.S. degree in Agriculture, Forestry, Dairy Technology, Food Science, Restaurant Management and Ornamental Horticulture indicated 26% entered some phase of agricultural industry.

Another 21% of the graduates joined the family enterprise in agriculture. Fifteen per cent stayed in school for an advanced degree or professional study in veterinary medicine or law.

The remaining third of the graduates were divided among a variety of occupations including 9% in the news media and 7% in military service, into government service. Ten per cent were holding temporary jobs in a variety of situations including construction, peace corps and religious work. Six percent had not accepted employment.

Starting salaries continued a steady upward trend with the average starting salary nearly $200.00 more than the average of 1971 graduates.

ELM LEAF BEETLES

Riddled leaves and leaf drop are symptoms of Elm Leaf Beetles.

Skeletonized leaves and an abundance of small, dirty yellow-to-black worms are sure indications of a severe problem in the canopy.

Elm leaf beetles are in the early stages of the second generation. An early summer population of small yellowish to green beetles was the mature adult of the first generation. A population increase will complete the destruction of attractive green foliage of many Chinese and American elms.

On application of carbaryl in mid-July will wipe out the entire population on your tree. Thorough coverage is essential.

Regional Report — Construction Is Proceeding; Active Role by State

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)
Work resumed on a number of construction projects following settlement of a two-week strike of ironworkers Local 392. The settlement calls for a total increase of 45 cents per hour in fringe benefits.

An increase of 25 cents per hour will take effect immediately, with an increase of 20 cents per hour to follow next Jan. 1. Base wages of $8.50 per hour remained unchanged.

Negotiations continued between two area carpenter councils and the Southern Illinois Builders Association, not affecting the Quad-Cities.

Attendance at Mississippi River Festival events this year easily surpassed last year's total attendance of 100,111. The 1972 season ended Monday night.

Alton School District 11 approved purchase of 65 acres of land for an area vocational building on Humboldt Road in Godfrey. Construction of the $5.4 million center is expected to begin as soon as final state approval is received.

School district voters passed a $2.2 million bond issue in 1971 to help finance construction of the facility. The state will provide the balance of the funds required.

Two area firms were among the low bidders for construction of a Famous-Barr store in the St. Clair Square Shopping Center. Bauer Bros. Construction Co. of Belleville submitted the low bid of $1,907,500 for general construction work. Grove Plumbing and Heating Co. of Granite City was the low bidder for plumbing and heating work at $125,405.

The total of the four low bids was $2,908,315. A date has not been set for the start of construction, although grading and site preparation work is under way.

A federal court approved the merger of the Illinois Central Railroad and Gulf, Mobile & Ohio Railroad. The merger, originally proposed nearly five years ago, involves 9,400 miles of roadway in 14 states. Further legal action is expected from opponents of the merger.

The Village of Maryville has annexed two tracts of land totaling 76.5 acres, adjacent to and northwest of previous village boundaries and extending north to Illinois Highway 162. Plans for development of the property are indefinite, but it is likely that the property will be developed for residential use, according to village officials.

In a one-day tour of the Quad-City and Alton areas, Governor Ogilvie called for immediate action to remedy local drainage and road problems. The governor announced that he is ordering immediate construction of drainage lines from Doherty slough, eastern Granite City, Pontoon Beach and other nearby areas to Horseshoe Lake.

In addition, outlets are to be constructed from the lake into the Cahokia Canal. Ogilvie also announced plans for reconstruction of two miles of Illinois Highway 243 here and a $90,000 slough, eastern Granite City, Pontoon Beach and other nearby areas to Horseshoe Lake.

A citizens' committee, headed by Illinois Chief Waterways Engineer John G. Gillou, has been appointed by Gov. Ogilvie to evaluate a proposal to split the District. A bill to divide the East Side Levee and Sanitary district in two failed to gain approval by the state legislature earlier this year.

Prof. Linden to Speak At SIUE Graduation

George W. Linden, professor of philosophical studies at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be the speaker at SIUE summer quarter commencement exercises Sept. 2.

Linden was chosen by members of the graduating class in keeping with a campus tradition.

More than 800 are expected to receive degrees at the ceremony set for 10 a.m. at the multi-purpose events site on the SIUE campus.

Linden joined the SIUE faculty in 1962. He is a former chairman of the department of philosophical studies, but elected to return to full-time teaching to have more time for writing.

He is the author of "Reflections on the Screen," a book on the movies as an art form, and of numerous poems. He has served as a book reviewer for Saturday Review and is a contributor to Personalist, a literary quarterly published at the University of California.

The speaker, a resident of

State Spent $3.1 Million Cleaning Roadsides in '71

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—It may look like crushed cans and plastic bottles to the motorist passing by, but the Illinois department of transportation views that litter along the highway as a pain in the budget, accounting for a significant chunk of money and manpower.

Bill Donalds, landscape architect in the bureau of maintenance for the transportation department, says that in 1971, the last year for which figures are available, there were 580,039 manhours expended, at a cost of $2,569,836 to pick up the junk the motorists leave or deliberately scatter along Illinois roads.

In addition, the transportation department spent $7,975 on materials for the job, such as brooms, sacks, dumping fees, as well as $538,837 for equipment. Put them all together, they total $3,160,658 for the taxpayers money spent just to pick up somebody else's trash.

Donalds said the cleanup operation goes on all year, with special emphasis during spring, summer and fall, when more tourists are on the roads, and car windows are more likely to be open.

The men doing the work are full time maintenance personnel, who also patch, remove snow, scatter salt and do other maintenance jobs. The manhours expended on litter removal, he said, were tallied just for the time they spend actually doing the junk pickup. The biggest part of what they pick up along the roughly 457,000 miles of Illinois roadways they maintain are cans, bottles, papers and maps, but also, for variety they also, from time to time, get to round up old refrigerators, stoves, mattresses, and used furniture.

ag fact, says Donalds, "just about anything anybody can drop along a highway had probably been dropped there at some time."

Surprisingly, money is frequently lost along the highways, he said, particularly around urban areas where workmen "frequently" find $10 and $20 bills.

Dead Animals
The highway crews are also charged with picking up dead animals, which are usually buried beside the highway at the spot they are found, he said.

Groups wanting to do more than just sympathize with the department can do just that, Donalds said. Any organization or association can notify the district highway engineer of a time and place the group wishes to work, and the department will provide a truck and driver to haul away and dispose of the debris the group rounds up.

Donalds said the policy was adopted because of recent emphasis on environmental protection, which led increasing numbers to ask the department what they could do to help. Last year, he said, 33 separate little cleanup campaigns were conducted in the state.

Groups wishing to help roadside litter cleanups, should not include youngsters under 11 years, should have one adult on hand for each 10 youngsters, and should plan to work only one side of a highway at a time, for safety sake, Donalds said.

Bridges Training At Orlando, Fla.

William Dale Bridges, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bridges of Madison, has reported to the Navy's new Naval Training Center at Orlando, Fla.

He enlisted in the Navy's 180-day delay program last April 7 and reported for active duty on Aug. 16. After completion of recruit training he will be granted 14 days leave prior to reporting to a service school command. He enlisted in the Navy's nuclear power program and after extensive schooling will report to a unit of the Navy nuclear fleet. He is a 1972 graduate of Madison High School.

County Receives $29,833 From Housing Authority

The Madison County Housing Authority has paid to the county treasurer $29,833 in lieu of taxes for the year ended Dec. 31, 1971, Anna-May Moyers, executive director, announced Tuesday.

The payment in lieu of taxes represents 10% of the net rental on housing developments in Madison, Venice, Collinsville, Alton and East Alton.

Clearwater Revamping Paves Way to Gold

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

It's good to see that Creedence Clearwater Revival has settled its differences and gone back to work. In the year that it took them to revamp their forces, fans have gone without tapes, records and live performances from this truly superior group.

However, the time and wait were well spent. Their new release on Ampex Tapes and Fantasy Records, "Mardi Gras," was turned to gold even before its release date, with more than $1 million in advance sales. That gives them seven golds in seven attempts.

The music that is produced by drummer Doug Clifford, bassist Stu Cook and of course, front man, lead singer, John Fogerty is slightly different from the old CCR sound. Yet it still contains that good tight rock that has made them one of America's top rock groups throughout the world. "Mardi Gras" is the group's first, real team effort, drawing on the talents of both Doug and Stu as writers and singers. In the past Fogerty handled these chores almost by himself.

Hard Times on Road
The "new" sound for CCR is Clifford's "What Are You Gonna Do," all about a gal who needs to shed her mother; "Tearin' Up the Country," which should do well on the top 40 charts and is all about the band in the good old days when it first got started; and "Need Someone To Hold," co-written by Cook and referring to the hard times on the road with the band.

Cook's contributions include "Door To Door," "Take It Like A Friend," which involves trying to talk with an ex-friend and "Sail Away," a fantasy portrayal of his first sailing venture.

Even though the above are far better than par, Creedence Clearwater Revival just wouldn't be the same without a song or two from Fogerty. His unique talents show up in "Somebody Never Comes" which is riding high on all the charts; "Sweet Hitchhiker," also a very big hit last summer and "Lookin' For A Reason," a country-oriented ballad featuring a pedal steel guitar backing Fogerty's vocal.

The album winds up with John doing a fine job on Gene Pitney's old hit song "Hello Mary Lou." On the whole, it's an impressive package and the new CCR sound should gain some new fans as well as keep their old fans.

"Texas Cannonball"
Freddie King, master of the blues guitar has recorded an album winner, "Texas Cannonball," on Shelter Records, is produced by Leon Russell, who wrote many of the songs and plays a smart piano on them. King and his guitar are tuned in and turn the listener on to his fine music in the form of "Ain't No Sunshine," "Big Legged Women," "Lowdown In Lodi" and "Can't Trust Your Neighbor," to name a few. Blues fans, don't pass this one up.

David Ackles has recorded an album of his own compositions called "Subway to the Country," on Elektra Records. It is a reflective and sometimes bitter social commentary. Very nice orchestration makes the stories told in song moodier and sadder. Selections include "Main Street Saloon," "Candy Man" the tale of a bitter war amputee, "The Innocent," the moody and poetical "Woman River," "Immature of The Institution" and the title cut "Subway To The Country." They are sad tales, but true, taken from the unhappy side of life and set to pretty music.

Mancini fans are bound to be pleased with this new two-record album, by RCA, entitled "This Is Henry Mancini, Vol. 2." It thrills the listener with a wide variety of sounds and several songs, from the accelerating beat of "The Sounds of Hatari" to the tender "Whistling Away the Dark." It also includes "The Blues," "Royal Blue," "Senior Peter Gunn," "Arabesque" and a dozen other favorites.

"Charlie Daniels, Te John, Grease & Wolfman" on Kama Sutra Records is a title hard to remember. But the four guys whose names are the album title got together and came up with some far out, boogie music. The sounds range from mellow blues to jump and shout. Most of the songs are written by Daniels. Especially nice are "Great Big Bunches of Love," "In the City," "I'll Try Again Tomorrow," "King Size Rosewood Bed" and "Drinkin' Wine Spoolee Olie."

Hileman Ends Term in Top State DeMolay Post

Charles E. Hileman Jr., 2330 Lynch Ave., stepped down from the position of state master counselor of the Illinois Order of DeMolay this month at Carbondale. Hileman was elected to the post on Aug. 14, 1971, in Peoria.

He was initiated into Granite City Chapter in 1965, when James Stuart was still the chapter "Dad." Hileman served as master counselor of the local chapter in 1968. He was granted the past master counselor's meritorious service award.

Representative DeMolay, Hileman also earned the Blue Honor Key for securing 10 new members. He completed the DeMolay leadership correspondence course and attended leadership camp in Potosi, Mo., in 1968.

He served as district governor in 1968. He attended the 50th anniversary celebration in Kansas City, Mo., in 1969, and left immediately on the DeMolay European pilgrimage. He was invested with the Degree of Chevalier and served as master counselor of Southern Illinois in 1969.

Hileman was elected as state junior counselor in 1969 and state senior counselor in 1970. He was one of two delegates from Illinois to the International DeMolay Congress in Sacramento, Calif., in 1971. Hileman was awarded the Distinguished Service Award in 1971 for outstanding service in the home, school, community and DeMolay chapter.

118 Attend Student Council Workshop

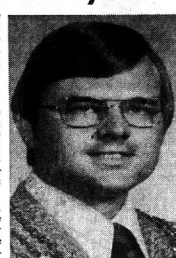

A total of 118 high school student council members from across the nation and Puerto Rico attended a one-week workshop recently at McKendree College.

The workshop was conducted for the National Association of Student Councils by Ronald Ganschietz of Collinsville High School and a staff of eight adults and 12 junior counselors, plus a secretary.

It was the third such leadership training conference on campus this summer. The other two were held for Illinois high school student council leaders.

Earns Academic Honors

Richard D. Copeland, 2570 State St., a student in the School of Law, is among nearly 5,300 students recognized at the University of Missouri-Columbia for outstanding class work during the past semester.

CHARLES HILEMAN

During his year as state master counselor, Hileman traveled more than 10,000 miles in Illinois for DeMolay activities. He planned and presided over the 44th annual Illinois DeMolay Convocation held at SIU Carbondale on Aug. 10-13.

A total of 600 persons attended the state master counselor's banquet. At the convocation, Hileman was succeeded by Dan G. Loeschner of Freeport.

Women Graduates Fare Well in Job Offerings

Women college graduates fared better in starting salary averages in many job fields than men applicants entering the 1972 national job market.

Herbert C. Largent, director of the Placement Service at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, reports.

While the top average for men with bachelor's degrees was 2.8% higher than last year—offered by the aeronautical engineering field—job offers to women in communications rose 7.8% and in non-scientific research 6.7%.

Men continued to have the edge in dollar value, however. New graduates entering chemical engineering received average offers of $928 per month, followed by $894 in mechanical engineering and $888 in electrical engineering. The average for women engineering graduates in the engineering profession was $883.

Accounting—top of the list in jobs available, for the first time in the 12-year history of the College Placement Council—very-drew an average salary of $854 for men; women attracted offers of $829 in accounting—adding.

The lowest starting salary average for women was for the secretarial services group at $465.

"Although they commanded the highest salary averages," Largent said, "women engineers and accountants realized relatively small percentage gains over last year. Their engineering average went up slightly less than 1% and the accounting average 2.1%."

The figures are based on salary offers reported to the College Placement Council, covering 145 representative colleges and universities from coast to coast on placements of men and 138 institutions on placements for women. The men's study covers jobs in business and industry, while the women's study also includes employment offers from government agencies and non-profit organizations.

Overall, employers began to make more job offers, but only modest salary increases were evident in most cases ranging up to about 2%, Largent said. Some decreases were seen.

Ichthyologist Studies South American Killifish

Despite their ominous sounding name, killifish are not dangerous, according to ichthyologist Jamie Thomerson, associate professor in the biology department of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The SIUE specialist in the study of fish says the small killifish got their name from the Dutch word "kill," meaning small stream. "Usually less than four inches long, they are also called top minnows because they live at the top of the water," Thomerson explained. It's a large family of fishes, with 400 different species found on all continents except Australia and Antarctica. Most of them are found in South America and Africa.

Under a grant from the National Geographic Society in Washington, the SIUE professor traveled 3,000 miles in Venezuela in June and later this month he will go to Colombia to study species of annual killifish. This study sheds light on the history of South America geologically, Thomerson said.

Killifish in Maricao and the Llanos are entirely different, the SIUE scientist said. "The Llanos are old geologically. As many as five kinds of killifish live there together. Maricao is young geologically and fishes are similar to each other. There you find only one or two species together," Thomerson said. Until he started working in South America, no one realized this difference, Thomerson said.

Rain Pools Dry Up

The annual fishes are the most interesting species because they live in rain pools that dry up each year, Thomerson said. They are like an annual flower in the desert, and like humans, when they run out of water and food they die. They become sexually mature at from four to six weeks and lay many eggs in the pond bottom mud. When the pond dries up, the adults die, but the eggs survive to hatch out a new generation when the rains come again," Thomerson explained.

Thomerson, who received his Ph.D. in biology from Tulane University, says annual killifish are used in studying the aging process. Since their life span is about six or seven months, they lend themselves to this kind of research.

In Venezuela scientists are interested in researching killifish for use in mosquito control, Thomerson said. "Some research has been done but it has not been particularly successful to date. We don't know enough about them. You have to recognize the entity before you can study it. I hope our research at SIUE will make this possible," he said.

In his laboratory on the fourth floor of the science building at SIUE Thomerson has many tanks containing various species of killifish, and buried in peat moss at the bottom are killifish eggs. "Under a microscope you can see the silver glimmer in the eyes of those about ready to hatch," Thomerson says. Eggs have been kept as long as five years by aquarists.

Stain Bones
Ed Redden, a student from Webster Groves, Mo., has a technique for clearing the flesh and staining the bones so they can be seen more clearly. Redden is comparing the bones of about 50 South American species. He will use a computer technique to figure out their relationship.

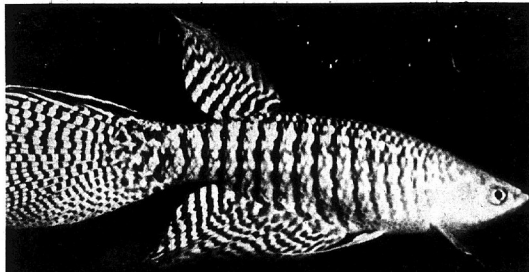

"Killifish bones have received little attention," Thomerson says, "and their study will make future research more realistic."

In Colombia Thomerson plans to start at the north end of the continent and work south. "We will go along the Atlantic Ocean where not much has been done," he explained. "We want to find out what is there and how the fish are distributed. We want to know why the fish in South America and Africa are similar."

"One of the reasons we think, is that this group of fishes originated before the two continents drifted apart. If we can find out how they were related, we can find out how long the two continents were in close proximity."

Thomerson, who has in his laboratory the world's largest collection of British Honduras fresh water fish—more than a hundred—says his first interest in killifish was through the aquarium hobby.

A fellow of the American Killifish Association and a member of several other scientific societies, Thomerson has published 20 articles on fish.

Springfield — Illinois, already the eighth-ranking producer of oil among the United States, just could be on the brink of "a whole new life" if current deep exploratory drilling should prove successful in turning up new deposits.

George R. Lane, petroleum engineer with the state department of mines and minerals, said at least 10 major oil producers are currently engaged in securing leases, particularly in the southern part of the state and in fact have nearly all of Clay, Effingham, Marion, Fayette, and Washington counties leased for drilling by now.

The firms have been conducting extensive campaigns with headless teams methodically working the counties, Lane said, and have reportedly had little difficulty in securing leases.

Almost all of Illinois has already been tested and surveyed in past years of oil and natural gas deposits, Lane said, and most of that drilling was shallow.

Whole areas of the state, and entire rock formations which could hold substantial oil pools, have never been tested by more recent deep drilling methods, he said, which makes it possible that deposits will be discovered which would "open up a whole new life" for the state, which is already known to have vast coal resources.

Firms Reluctant

Firms have been reluctant to undertake a deep exploratory drilling, Lane said, because of the prohibitive cost, which runs from $300,000 to $400,000 for each "hole," compared to a range from $1,200 to under $10,000 for shallow test drills.

Overall SIU Budget Is At $83 Million Level

The $27 million SIUE operating budget approved by the Southern Illinois board of trustees during its August meeting is part of an overall SIU budget exceeding $83 million.

Analysis of the budget for the local campus in the 1972-1973 fiscal year shows that General institutional expenses will total $14,412,873. This includes alumni services, data processing, administrative office of the SIU Foundation, institutional research, graphics and publications, the information center, news and photographic services, and the campus post office.

Auxiliary enterprises are budgeted at $43,033. Additional funds to support operation of auxiliary services will come from charges made to university departments at the time services are rendered. Auxiliary services include textbook rental, transportation services, telephones, office machine repair and printing and sign services.

A total of $63,309 is budgeted at SIUE's contribution to the University Retirement System. The $212,800 allocated for student aid includes $60,000 for graduate fellowships, $30,111 for national defense student loans and $102,689 in scholarship grants.

A system-wide internal operating budget of $83,261,265 from state-appropriated funds was given approval by the Southern Illinois University board of trustees headed by Harold R. Fischer of Granite City. It will support operations of the 34,000-student multiple-campus senior institution for the current fiscal year.

Chief of Board Staff James M. Brown presented the appointment plan to the trustees. The sum of $2,039,700 is earmarked for retirement system employer's contribution, he said, and the remaining $311,221,565 is allocated as follows:

System Offices, $889,177; Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, $53,418,296; Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, $26,588,727.

Unallocated fund (added to requested funds by General Assembly), $215,365.

Appropriated funds include both state general revenue ($74,490,065) and university-generated ($8,771,200), the latter principally from tuition charged students.

In addition to the state appropriations, the universities of the SIU system will receive and disburse approximately $29,444,780 in non-appropriated funds generated from grants and awards, operation of Auxiliary Enterprises such as the Student Center and student housing and other student fees.

The budget is based on a projected enrollment of 34,137 for the fall quarter, down 140 from the fall 1971 figure, Brown said. The Carbondale campus anticipates 21,183 students and 12,954.

Personal services (salaries and wages) account for $62,620,405, or 75.2% of the total budget.

The approximately $1 million size of the operating budget for the two-year-old systems of office drew the attention of a university board member, Dr. Earl Walker of Harrisburg. It is considered to be larger than that at some other universities.

Dr. Walker asked whether the budget will be "stabilizing" and wanted to know what the systems staff does other than "advise and counsel the board." He recommended that the board staff treasurer's two assistants on the two campuses be placed under the campus presidents.

James M. Brown, chief of board staff, said the staff has a "significant ongoing relationship with the staff of the Illinois Board of Higher Education" and represents the university in its dealings with the BHE.

He said the board staff plans to review the organizational structure and is "aware of the need for close examination and budgetary strictness."

Deep Oil Drilling Now Underway in Illinois

Atlantic Richfield Oil Co. is currently drilling a $11,000-foot test hole in Lawrence County, at a site about two miles north of Bridgeport, Lane said.

The drilling, which started about a month ago, is at the 7,300 foot level, and will probably require another two-to-three weeks to reach the 11,000-foot depth. Drilling becomes slower as it goes deeper, Lane said.

Much of the high cost of boring deeper test holes, Lane says, arises from the need to bring in rigs from out-of-state, since special equipment is necessary to go to the greater depths.

Though Illinois is currently a major oil-producing state, and is known to have large resource deposits, no one has made an estimate of just how long these deposits may last, Lane said.

Coal Fields
Illinois coal fields have been estimated to contain a 500-year supply of high grade coal, but unfortunately most of it is high grade coal, which cannot be used as it is mined, because of ecological considerations.

Increasing shortages of natural gas and oil have led to curtailments of service for natural gas use in space heating in many areas of the state.

It is this shortage, as well, which has sparked renewed interest in re-evaluating some of the areas in Illinois, where shallow deposits have presumably all been discovered and mapped by now.

Because of the competitive nature of the industry, Lane said, while it is known that major firms are all drilling and surveying extensively in the state, what results they achieve, if any, are kept a closely guarded secret.

Birth Rate Increases, Weddings Dip in County

The birth rate increased by 10, from 330 to 340, during July compared to the figures for the same month a year ago, according to a report of vital statistics compiled by the office of Miss Eulalia Hoiz, Madison County clerk.

There were 166 boys, 13 more, and 174 girls, three less. There were six sets of twins, three more.

Deaths recorded were 156, two more than last year, while marriages totaled 270, 34 less than last year.

ONE OUT OF 10 LITTLE CARS HAS ALL THIS. VEGA'S THE ONE.

Each front wheel of a Vega sports a big standard 10-inch disc brake for steady stops.

Each seat is full foam cushioned and contour molded to fit your legs and back, softly.

Vega is the only little car with a guard beam in every door for added protection in the event of side impact.

For strength, two steel roofs—not just one. For quiet, the inner roof acts like acoustical tile.

You can go 50,000 miles under normal driving conditions, before Vega's engine air filter needs replacing.

A bigger engine than most little cars have makes Vega respond quicker, more fun to drive.

Vega has rocker panels that actually clean themselves of salt, dirt and other rust causers.

You get a coil spring at each wheel (same as you do on a big car) to smooth the ride.

A power ventilation system keeps air moving through the car, even when it isn't moving.

Battery terminals are on the side and sealed, so they shouldn't corrode and stop you from starting.

Did you know that The Vega Drive Is On? It's not something you give to, it's something you get at your Chevrolet dealer's: a chance to test drive, test handle, test enjoy Vega's better ways.

Family of five, $5,380 or $448; six, $6,070 or $505; seven, $6,760 or $562; eight, $7,450 or $619; nine, $8,140 or $676.

Family of 10, $8,870 or $739; 11, $9,600 or $800; 12, $10,330 or $861; 13, $11,060 or $922; 14, $11,790 or $983; 15, $12,520 or $1,044.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances such as a family receiving public assistance are urged to apply for free meals for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office at the school.

Applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

This form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family, and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school meals, school officials said.

'Run for Your Life' No Idle Phrase, Study Shows

By IRWIN J. POLK, M.D.
Copley News Service

The "exercise nuts" spend a little time each day walking, running or walking and running down the city streets and through the countryside.

Exercise. Who needs it? As Robert Maynard Cooper once said, "Whenever I feel like exercise, I lie down until the feeling passes." He was president of the University of Chicago.

And Chauncey Depew is quoted, "I get my exercise acting as pallbearer for my friends who exercised."

But there are other voices. Bruce Barton said, "If you want to know if your brain is flabby, feel your legs."

Some 30 million Americans have heart disease, including three people out of every ten in the age of 45. One million Americans a year die of cardiovascular disease. Heart disease is a major disaster in America despite a high-powered system of medical care which seems to do too much, too late.

Doctors aren't doing much for heart trouble. They treat it fairly well but they don't prevent it at all. Are the joggers doing any better? Does exercise protect the heart? Does it cure a sick heart? And if so, what kind of exercise and how much?

Some answers to these questions come from Dr. Kenneth Hardy Cooper of Ballou, who is studying the effects of exercise on the body. Cooper is 41, but trim and tanned by the Texas sun. He looks years younger.

He is alert and vigorous, the perfect advertisement for a man with the mission of using graded exercise to prevent, diagnose and treat heart disease.

Cooper's system of physical fitness is based on the use of oxygen by the body.

He has been able to show in the laboratory that the best athletes are those who can burn up the most calories in the shortest period of time. As they exercise and use up calories for energy, these athletes use large amounts of oxygen to burn up the calories that the body gets from its food.

By measuring the oxygen used during the exercise, Cooper has been able to grade the physical fitness of athletes, and incidentally, of the general public.

In studies on more than 5,000 military volunteers, he has been able to grade them for physical fitness by measuring the air that passes in and out of their lungs while they run or ride bike.

But it is hardly practical to measure the oxygen uptake of everyone in the country or even of everyone in poor health. So Cooper has thought of other ways to come up with another system.

As it works out, the distance a person can travel in 12 minutes is another measure of his physical fitness. So the test is simple: walk or run as far as you can in 12 minutes.

A man less than 30 years old should be able to go at least a mile and a half in that period of time but, of course, the distance gets shorter for older people. There's a different scale for women, too.

Jogging is the current name for walking briskly, or alternately walking and running for short periods. It can be done anywhere, but is best done on quiet streets where the traffic is not heavy.

But if no such peaceful roads are nearby, even the busiest city street can be used for jogging. The purpose is to move along as far as is possible for each individual.

So slip into your tennis shoes, dungeons and sweat shirt and move out.

MARY BABB, 2320 Adams St., is awarded a check for $100 as winner of a downtown merchants contest. The check is presented by Marilyn Lunsford, a participant in the contest promotion. A $200 prize was awarded last week to Ruth McGahan, 2328 Grand Ave.

Explanations of Business Air Purity Rules Scheduled

Copley News Service

Springfield Air pollution control regulations have been adopted in Illinois, and to familiarize industry and the public with construction and operating permit procedures, the Environmental Protection Agency will conduct a series of seminars in Springfield and Chicago.

The meetings will chiefly be of a general nature, with one portion of each devoted to the specific industry for which the session is scheduled.

Following each general session, question and answer periods will be conducted. On hand to answer queries will be EPA personnel, including technical, legal and administrative staff members.

For printing and publishing firms, one seminar is set for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 7 in the Centennial Building, Springfield, and the other at 1 p.m. Sept. 13 in the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago.

For the petroleum and coal products industries, the Springfield session is scheduled for Sept. 8, with the Chicago meeting Sept. 11.

Representatives of the food and kindred products industry have been invited to a Springfield session Sept. 9, while the Chicago meeting for that group will be held Sept. 12.

Paper and allied products will be covered at an Oct. 6 meeting in Springfield and an Oct. 13 session in Chicago. Stone, clay and glass products will be considered at an Oct. 7 session in Springfield and an Oct. 14 seminar in Chicago.

Incinerators will be discussed at a Nov. 2 meeting in Springfield and a Nov. 6 seminar in Chicago.

Those from the electric, gas and sanitary services industries will attend a meeting in Springfield Nov. 3 or in Chicago Nov. 7. Final seminars in the series will be held for the gas, oil-fired boiler industries, and all others, on Dec. 9 in Springfield and Dec. 16 in Chicago.

All Springfield meetings will be conducted at 9:30 a.m. in the Centennial Building. All Chicago sessions will be held in the Field Museum of Natural History, starting at 1 p.m., except for the Dec. 16 and Oct. 14 meetings, which will be held at 9 a.m.

Children Protected if Insured Parent Dies

By FRANK CORRIK
Copley News Service

Q. As a working mother, do my children have any social security protection if anything should happen to me?

A. Yes. If either insured parent retires, dies, or becomes disabled, unmarried children can receive monthly payments until they are 18. Payments can continue to age 22 for a child who remains in school. The children have the same right to benefits on their mother's work record as they do on their father's record.

Q. My husband and I are interested in life insurance dividends: how beneficial will they be for us to consider?

A. In life insurance, dividends are paid on participating insurance. A dividend is actually a refund of part of the premium paid for a policy. It reflects the difference between the prior estimate on which premium scales are based, and the actual costs as they work out during the period, or to take the dividends as ready cash.

That is why most couples find it helpful to consult a qualified life insurance agent about their program.

Q. I collect monthly Social Security payments as a widow. I have my own Social Security number but I have never worked outside the home. Will my family be able to get a payment from Social Security to help pay my burial expenses when I die?

A. No. Your family would not receive a lump-sum death payment if you have never worked under Social Security.

Q. I am 46 years old and have always earned the maximum under Social Security. I have been told by friends that if I should become disabled now my wife and I would only receive about $250 a month. Is this correct?

A. No. You and your family would be entitled to a monthly benefit of at least $400. These benefits would continue as long as you remained disabled. Payments to your children would be made while they were under 18 or until age 22 if they were full-time students.

Q. Would you please explain to my wife and my two adult children the leading definition of "investment banker?"

A. Investment banker is also known as an underwriter. He is the middleman between the corporation issuing new securities and the public. The usual practice is for one or more investment bankers to buy out right from a corporation a new issue of stocks and bonds. The group forms a syndicate to sell the securities to individuals and institutions.

Thereafter, the market in the security may be over-the-counter, on a regional stock exchange, the American Exchange or the New York Stock Exchange. Incidentally, the over-the-counter market is the chief market for U. S. government bonds, municipal bonds, and bank and insurance stocks.

Q. I received a check from an individual who signed a false name. Would he still be liable for the amount he owes me?

A. Yes, he is still liable.
